PENNYPACKER'S NOMINATION AS SURE AS BALLOT

That Is Commissioner Israel W. Durham's Prediction After Inspecting Senator Quay's List of Delegates' Pledges.

THE CLAIMS OF STONE'S MEN REST ON A POOR FOUNDATION

"It's Easy," Says Durham.

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 8.—"It's easy." This was the terse way in which Insurance Commissioner I. W. Durham sized up the situation tonight after a brief talk with Senators Quay and Penrose. Mr. Durham, United States District Attorney James Holland of Montgomery, Capt. J. Clayton Erb and Thomas Garvin of Delaware arrived on the evening train from Philadelphia.

"I have just gone over the list of pledges with Quay and Penrose. The nomination of Judge Pennypacker is as certain as it is that there will be a roll call Wednesday. Quay's statement last night that the judge would have 225 votes on the first ballot is conservative, more so than I would make it; and it is true that we have made some gains since yesterday. The Gazette, in predicting Pennypacker's nomination, cannot make it too strong. The claims being made by the other side are interesting, but claims don't count when there is a roll call."

Harrisburg, Pa., June 8.—Ex-Senator William M. Brown of Lawrence, candidate for lieutenant governor, came tonight.

"I feel certain of the result," said the ex-senator. "Judge Pennypacker will win easily and I am assured of second place on the ticket."

Sibley's Oratory Will Be Heard.

Congressman Sibley will be here tomorrow night. Not only will Mr. Sibley be elected permanent chairman of the convention, but his friends say he will make an address pertinent to the occasion, one that will be remembered by Republicans regardless of faction. Not only in an oratorical sense is Mr. Sibley expected to be interesting, but his personal influence with the Republicans of his congressional district and contiguous counties will, it is believed, substantially increase the majority now claimed by the friends of Judge Pennypacker.

Col. L. A. Watres will be here in the morning. His interests are being cared for by Capt. John C. Delaney, who is confident that the Lackawanna man will be accepted as a compromise candidate. It is true that Mr. Watres has a very creditable bunch of delegates, and as a "compromise candidate" he is certainly in an easy position.

It is reported here tonight that Cambria county's delegates, claimed by Elkin, have decided to support Pennypacker. At the Quay headquarters there are rumors that several other counties have decided to get in line for the judge, not only because of the certainty of his success, but for the reason that it is conceded his nomination will strengthen the congressional, legislative and county tickets.

Secret of Pennypacker's Strength.

Everywhere throughout the state the Republican leaders are awakening to the fact that the Democrats are going to make an aggressive fight this fall. In the close districts and in close counties it is realized that no mistakes must be made in the make-up of the state ticket. This is why Elkin is losing counties and why Pennypacker is forging ahead.

The Stone-Elkin literary bureau is pulling a steady stroke tonight. There is a statement every hour, and anyone who will talk can get into the "prominent" Republican category. At the governor's mansion this afternoon, all of Stone's lieutenants prepared a "composition," which, after being censored and edited by the postscript expert, was given out for publication. Happily for the administration artists, Congressman Connell drifted in tonight, and was induced to strike a keynote for the Elkin minstrels. Mr. Connell, who does not control a single delegate from his home county, said:

"I have gone over the situation carefully with Attorney General Elkin and his friends and am satisfied that he will win the nomination on Wednesday. The claims of the opposition are without foundation and are intended as a campaign bluff. The combined strength of the Pennypacker and Watres forces at this time does not exceed 150 votes. Of this number Mr. Watres has about 15."

Mouthpiece of Gov. Stone.

Other Elkin statements are:

Secretary of the Commonwealth W. W. Griest, Lancaster county—Mr. Elkin will be nominated on the first ballot. If there was ever any doubt as to the outcome of this contest, the result of the primary elections on Saturday should remove that doubt.

Senator John S. Fisher of the Jefferson-Indiana district—Elkin will win easily. His has the votes and the opposition cannot buy them away from him.

State Treasurer Frank G. Harris, Clearfield county—There has never been any question in my mind of the nomination of Mr. Elkin. The recent primaries, where he has won over 90 per cent of the delegates, should convince those who have been doubting the correctness of our claims of the fact that we know the sentiment of the people. The delegates from the country districts will control this convention and will nominate Mr. Elkin.

Ex-State Treasurer James E. Barnett, Washington—The people of Western Pennsylvania are for Elkin for governor. He will have a good majority in the convention.

Presley W. Fleitz, Lackawanna—I have never had any doubt of the result from the beginning.

T. Larry Eyre, Chester county, general assistant to the Republican state chairman—After a careful survey of the situation, including the result of the primaries held yesterday, I am entirely confident of the nomination of Mr. Elkin on the first ballot, with a number of votes to spare.

These statements are significant. In the opinion of Stone's secretary of the commonwealth, Mr. Griest; Stone's superintendent of public buildings and grounds, Mr. Eyre; Stone's deputy attorney general, Mr. Fleitz; Mr. Barnett, ex-state treasurer, and his successor, Mr. Harris, who failed to carry his own county of Clearfield, Mr. Elkin will be nominated.

The "bureau" also has a long "expression" from Ben Focht, who says the solitary delegate in Union county was instructed for Elkin "because the people thought Quay wanted him nominated." The "people" understand differently now, and the delegate is liable to vote for Judge Pennypacker.

Instancing the resources of Mr. Elkin, it may be said that ten minutes after it was reported tonight that Cambria county had decided to support Pennypacker, the Elkin bureau gave out the following alleged copy of a telegram:

Ebensburg, Pa., June 8, 1902.

Hon. John P. Elkin,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Your delegates are elected by about two to one. W. H. Barker, chairman Cambria county Republican committee.

Senators Quay and Penrose spent the day very quietly, neither of them leaving the Walnut street house occupied by them. County leaders and workers were constantly calling to pay their respects and report on conditions at home. The information received was satisfactory to Quay. Telegrams and telephone messages came thick and fast and their purport was corroborative of the belief that the postscript candidate is defeated. Elkin's claim that he would have the support of 62 out of the 65 delegates elected yesterday is regarded as preposterous. If he gets one-third of the total elected he will be fortunate.

Guessing on Allegheny County.

There is much speculation as to how Allegheny's delegation will stand. Last night Elkin claimed all these votes, at noon he had reduced the estimate to 25 instead of 36. Chairman Moore is still sanguine that Judge Pennsypacker will have a majority. If not all of the delegates, Col. Quay would express no opinion for publication.

Gov. Stone's strategy board had an all-day session at the executive mansion. Elkin, Eyre and Mitchell were with the governor, and at noon Secretary Griest was sent for. He arrived from Lancaster in time to join the party for dinner, after which all but Stone adjourned to the Elkin headquarters at the Lochiel hotel. The governor attached himself to the long-distance and local telephone receivers and settled down for all night. Stone is the only one of Elkin's managers who can work two 'phones at the same time.

Chairman John Brown and Charles M. Watson of Lawrence county arrived this afternoon. They saw the senators. In the morning they will open headquarters for ex-Senator William Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor. The Lawrence county man seems to be without active opposition for second place.

Elkin's Claim Groundless.

"The claim of Elkin that he has 62 of the 65 delegates elected yesterday are ridiculous," said Chairman Brown. "Why, I could name a dozen or more who will not support Elkin, and they are not from Allegheny county. As to Allegheny, while I have given the fight there no attention, my impression is that they will not support Stone's man. The sentiment of the county, as expressed at the February elections, would make suicidal such a course. In my opinion there is not the slightest doubt of Judge Pennypacker's nomination, and Lawrence will furnish an acceptable candidate for lieutenant governor."

While the Stone faction is said to favor Dr. T. L. Flood for second place, the governor having designated the Crawford man as his personal choice, no statement on this phase of the fight can be had from either Stone or Elkin. This may be explained by the alleged fact that Gov. Stone has promised a score of persons the lieutenant governorship in case Elkin wins, and an equal number of pledges are said to be out for the secretaryship of internal affairs, the prospective cabinet places and the many appointments in the gift of the governor. For instance, Senator Ben Focht of Union desires second place on the state ticket. It has been promised him, it is said, as well as the secretaryship of the commonwealth in case it would be more to his liking; and it is claimed that District Attorney Miller of Dauphin and James S. Beacom of Westmoreland also have been promised Elkin's present berth if Stone succeeds in raising him to a higher official place.

Col. Flood Working for His Father.

Col. Ned Arden Flood of Crawford, son of Dr. T. L. Flood, is here looking after his father's interests. The doctor will come tomorrow.

"Dr. Flood," said the colonel, "is not making a fight for the nomination. He would not accept the honor if it would cause factional feeling or party discord. The delegates of Crawford were selected by Dr. Flood and they were instructed to

LEADERS PLAN UNIT RULE FOR THE DELEGATES

Local Machine Resorts to Desperate Method to Hold Votes.

MUST KEEP PROMISE TO STONE AND ELKIN

Desperate measures are being taken to avert the impending defeat of John P. Elkin. Finding that some of the Allegheny county delegates are showing an inclination toward independence and favor the nomination of Judge Pennypacker the state administration and organization leaders of the city are preparing to have the unit rule introduced and adopted at the caucus of the delegation.

As the friends of the postscript man and his attorney general believe they can control a majority of the delegation they have resorted to this method as a last desperate effort to keep their forces intact.

The arbitrary action of Gov. Stone in ordering and enforcing the removal of the name of William H. Johnston from the delegate slate in the Eighth legislative district and the substitution of Henry Berg's, has angered the delegates.

A large proportion of them, although selected by the machine leaders, favor the nomination of Judge Pennypacker, and consider the fight for Elkin's nomination a forlorn hope. They are anxious to make the best terms possible for themselves, and the leaders fear that they will have great trouble in holding them in line, when they arrive at Harrisburg and realize the hopelessness of their cause.

To Bind Delegates.

For this reason the unit rule will be introduced, and unless the machine leaders themselves find some way of backing out of their bargain with Gov. Stone, it will be adopted. It binds every delegate to follow the will of the majority and the vote of the delegation would be cast solidly for the Indiana county man.

Recorders J. O. Brown and John R. Murphy had a consultation yesterday in regard to the local delegation and it was after this that the plan of enforcing the unit rule became known. Recorder Murphy has just returned from a visit to Gov. Stone and it is believed that the postscript man suggested the idea to his lieutenants here.

It is also understood that unless Elkin shows enough strength on the first ballot to make his victory almost a certainty, the Allegheny county men will desert "instanter," and make the best terms possible with the winning side. The leaders are anxious to get out of their agreement with Gov. Stone, and will grasp the first opportunity. The six delegates from the Sixth legislative district under the control of Recorder George von Bonnhorst are claimed by both sides, and may come out openly tomorrow for Pennypacker.

The Allegheny county caucus will be held some time tomorrow, the exact hour not having been fixed yet, and the action of the delegation on the first ballot will be definitely determined.

The entire crowd of adherents at Sixth avenue headquarters will leave here tonight at 9 o'clock in three special Pullman cars. The delegation will number about 100, including the 36 delegates, and in order to keep their hand hidden until they have looked over the battle lines, the leaders have decreed on a non-committal badge of white, bearing merely the words "Allegheny County."

Another change in the delegation was announced last night and Clarence Burleigh will act as proxy for District At-

DELIBERATELY INHALED GAS TO CAUSE DEATH

WAS DISCOVERED BY WIFE

Robert A. Hope Mason, clerk in the bureau of detectives, committed suicide last night shortly after 9 o'clock in his rooms at the Albert flats, Stevenson and Colwell streets, by asphyxiation. He placed the hose of a fountain syringe on the gas jet and the bag over his mouth. He was found by his wife at 10 o'clock.

When Mrs. Mason returned home she found the door locked and a strong smell of gas in the hallway. As she was unable to get in the room she called a colored man and he broke through the transom. Mason was dead when he was reached. Mason was 30 years old, and, as far as his wife knows, had no relations.

Mrs. Elizabeth May Mason was with her husband almost all the afternoon. During the day he complained of feeling badly. From what could be learned from the other inmates of the house the two had quarreled during the day.

Mrs. Mason said she left her husband at 5:30 o'clock to go to her mother's in Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg. When she left the rooms he was lying on the bed reading. She did not return until 10 o'clock. There was a strong smell of gas in the room. She became frightened and ran into the street. A colored man was passing and she hailed him to assist her. They both went upstairs and she broke the transom glass. The colored man then climbed through the transom and opened the door.

Mason was lying on the bed. The bag of the syringe was at his mouth. He had placed a pair of trousers at the bottom of the door to prevent the gas from escaping, and the window ledge was packed with paper for the same purpose. Mrs. Mason and the colored man dragged Mason into the bath room, thinking they could revive him. His body was still warm. They threw water in his face, but it was without avail.

As soon as a physician who was sent for arrived he pronounced the man dead. In the meantime the city detectives had been notified. Detectives A. H. Swineheart, Harry Jones and George Waggoner went to the house. Mrs. Mason was frantic and declared that she and her husband had always been on good terms. This was denied by the other inmates of the place.

The couple were married over a year ago. Mrs. Mason was formerly Elizabeth May Evans and lived in Beaver Falls. This spring her relatives moved to Wilkinsburg. They had only been living in the Albert flats two weeks. Before that they had been boarding with Mrs. Burke at No. 215 Dinwiddie street.

Mason was appointed as clerk to the superintendent of detectives in March. Before that he was employed by the George A. Fuller Company. Mrs. Mason said her husband had been worrying some of late about his work. Before she left the house he said he had a letter in his pocket from Supt. John McAleese asking him to get some evidence for him in a certain case. This letter could not be found.

SLASHED NURSE WITH RAZOR AND CUT HIS THROAT

NURSE COCHRANE BADLY CRIPPLED

After attempting to kill his nurse R. Smedley Hall, 24 years old, of No. 412 Taylor avenue, Allegheny, committed suicide yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been ill with typhoid fever and was delirious.

The tragedy occurred at the house of Mrs. George Dutton, where Hall boarded. He had been boarding there for about one month. Early last week he became very ill of typhoid fever and from the start was inclined to be violent. The physician attending him secured Miss Della Cochrane as a nurse for him.

Imagined Himself a Murderer.

At 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning Miss Cochrane noticed that Hall was wilder than usual. Suddenly he sprang out of bed and glaring at her, cried:

"I have murdered a man, and you are the only one besides me who knows it. But they'll find it out, so you and I will die together."

Miss Cochrane tried to quiet him and get him back to bed, but he became wilder and in a burst of frenzy threw her across the room so violently that she fell to the floor, and the mad man picked up a heavy leather-covered arm chair and threw it on her.

He then ran to a wash stand in the room, and picking up his razor, made a dash at Miss Cochrane, who had struggled to her feet. He slashed her across the breast, but only succeeded in cutting her uniform, the steels of her corset keeping the keen blade of the razor from entering her flesh.

Nurse Had an Awful Struggle.

The nurse struggled with the patient, and had almost succeeded in taking the razor from him, when he jerked it away from her, and in doing so, cut her right hand and wrist in a horrible manner. He then quickly drew the razor across his throat and almost severed his head from his body.

Mrs. Dutton at that moment ran into the room. She had heard the screams of Miss Cochrane and the mad man. As Mrs. Dutton entered the room Hall threw the razon from him.

The blood was spouting in torrents from the gash cut in his throat and blood was streaming also from the wound in Miss Cochrane's hand and another in her fore head, just over the right eye.

Mrs. Dutton took hold of Hall, and with the assistance of Miss Cochrane, who badly injured as she was, still held on to him, and the two laid Hall on the bed. Mrs. Dutton at once summoned Dr. Charles H. Voight, but when the physician arrived Hall was dead.

Miss Cochrane May Be a Cripple.

Dr. Voight turned his attention to Miss Cochrane, and hastily dressing her wounds, had her sent to the Allegheny General hospital in an ambulance. The wound in Miss Cochranes' hand and wrist is a serious one and may cripple her for life. It runs from an inch above the hand down through the palm to the index finger, and the tendons of the wrist and the thumb are completely severed. She was placed under an anesthetic at the hospital and the tendons connected and the wound sewed up, and there is hope that in time she may recover the use of her hand.

SNEEZED AN ARM OUT OF PLACE

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 8.—(Special)—John Hamilton, manager of the Paisley drug store, dislocated his right shoulder last night while sneezing. He was at the prescription case when he felt the inclination to sneeze and grasped a railing for support. The violence of sneezing drew him into a position that threw his shoulder out of joint, and the services of a physician were necessary.

Ho! for Europe! The teachers' contest for the grand tour is ended. The winners are announced. They are to be congratulated for they have an ideal vacation before them. The unsuccessful contestants are entitled to sympathy for they have missed a good thing. The unfortunate feature about contests is that everybody cannot win and in this case The Pittsburgh Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph have but one regret—that they cannot take all the several hundred candidates along.

From the start, on January 1, the contest has been a lively and exciting one. The votes of the winners and the total numbers of votes cast for all candidates bear testimony to the widespread popular interest in this most generous offer made by Pittsburgh's two leading newspapers. The vote in detail is not published, because many of the contestants have made the request that the number of their votes should not be publicly announced. However, anyone who is directly interested can obtain any desired information concerning his or her vote by application to the Excursion Department.

Cause of Some Failures.

It may be noticed that some populous localities are not represented in the list of winners. This was not because of any lack of interest in the contest, but because of failure to concentrate their votes. In this way both McKeesport and Braddock failed to secure a representative on the list. The total vote polled by each of those localities was large enough to have elected any one candidate, but it was split up among several candidates. The same applies to the Twentieth ward of Pittsburgh and other localities.

The task of tabulating and counting the ballots has been an arduous one. In order to make this early announcement of the winners the enumerators have been compelled to work day and night since the last ballot was printed. But the work of The Pittsburgh Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph is not ended. They have yet to escort the teachers' party from Pittsburgh to and through Europe and back. Arrangements are nearly complete.

To make the trip as pleasant and successful as possible we will publish tomorrow some suggestions respecting baggage, clothing and other matters of detail upon advice of the tourist conductors and steamship people. Some of the tourists have been abroad; some have not. These latter will be much interested in knowing what they ought not to take.

Statistics of the Contest.

Following are the interesting statistics of the contest:

First ballot printed January 1, last ballot May 31.

There was a total of 297 teachers voted for, although there was not nearly this many that could be classed as contestants, as complimentary votes were polled for a number of teachers who did not even make a canvass. Of the 297 voted for 119 were in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, 78 were in Allegheny county outside of the two cities; 100 were outside of Allegheny county.

The total vote polled was 11,344,448, of which 6,558,686 were cast for Pittsburgh and Allegheny candidates; 2,594,062 were for Allegheny county teachers outside of the two cities and 2,131,699 were for teachers outside of Allegheny county.

OLD MAUNA LOA AGAIN ERUPTING

The News Brought to Honolulu by a Ship Captain Who Saw the Flame and Smoke. Active in Other Years.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Honolulu, May 31, via San Francisco, June 8.—From Mokuaweoweo, a crater of the volcano Mauna Loa, on the island of Hawaii, there burst forth on the night of May 23 a vast column of fire and smoke, according to Capt. Townsend of the schooner Eclipse, which arrived here two days ago. The eruption, Capt. Townsend says, continued during the next day and night. He sailed from the island of Hawaii on May 26, but owing to the heavy clouds and mists which shut off his view of that section of the island he was unable to determine whether the volcano was still emitting fire and smoke, as at first.

Capt. Townsend saw the column of fire while at sea on May 24. Natives of the western coast told him on the following morning that the flames he saw came from the old and long dormant crater of Mokuaweoweo. It was about 8:30 o'clock on the night of May 24, Townsend says, when he saw an immense column of fire in the direction of Mauna Loa. He saw the firy display for an hour, when the heavy mists shut off his view. He surmised that the volcano of Kilauea had burst forth, but when he reached Hookena, on the west coast of Hawaii, the next morning, he was informed by the natives that the crater of Mokuaweoweo, near the summit of Mauna Loa, began to send forth flames on the night of May 23. The crater of Mokuaweoweo is within sight of Hookena, and the natives said they saw the flames burst from the crater.

Mauna Loa is in the southern part of the island of Hawaii and is 13,600 feet high, the second highest volcanic peak in the Pacific. The highest is Mauna Kea, in the northern part of the island. Mauna Loa is 8,000 feet in diameter. It was in eruption in 1877, when a stream of lava flowed for six hours, and again in eruption in 1887. Kilauea, 16 miles southeast of Mauna Loa, has an elevation of 4,400 feet, and its crater is the largest active one in the world, nine miles in circumference, with vertical sides 1,000 feet deep, the bottom covered with a lake of liquid lava, at one end red and boiling. Around the edge of the fiery lake 51 conical craters send forth jets of lava. There was a great outburst from a crater eight miles from the summit of Kilauea in 1840, when a stream of lava half a mile wide flowed 40 miles to the sea.

Mauna Loa again became active in 1899 and continued in eruption for several days. At that time Kilauea gave signs of activity, although scientists declare there is no connection between the two volcanoes.

FIERCE FIGHT IN SOMERSET ENDED SATURDAY

CHAIRMANSHIP AT STAKE

Returns from Butler Increase Galbreath's Lead for Judge—County Controller Brown's Fight on Westmoreland Commissioners.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Somerset, Pa., June 8.—The primaries here Saturday resulted in the defeat of the Scull faction, only one candidate for assembly being nominated among the Scull followers. The primary vote was the largest in the county's history. Figures are all in except for 11 small districts and these cannot change the result.

The delegates with their votes were: B. D. Morgan, 3,810; Aaron F. Dickey, 3,728; E. V. Babcock, 3,522. It is claimed that the anti-Elkin delegates were defeated by more than 1,000 votes. The following was the vote: For congress—J. A. Berkey, 3,650; H. M. Berkley, 2,771. Senate—J. W. Endsley, 3,424; James M. Cover, 2,985. Assembly—L. C. Lambert, 3,164; John C. Weller, 2,882. The anti-Scull faction made the mistake of placing three candidates in the field while the Scull faction only had two, and Weller, a Scull man, was nominated. For Sheriff—Andrew J. Coleman, 3,778; Charles Weimer, 2,670. Prothonotary—Norman E. Berkey, 3,774; Ira E. Lambert, 2,585. Register of wills—Charles B. Shafer, 3,939; Robert W. Lohr, 2,869. Register of deeds—Everett C. Welch, 3,483; Daniel E. Keller, 2,570. Clerk of courts—John G. Emert, 3,631; Charles Williams, 2,472. Treasurer—W. S. Matthews, 3,193; Freeman J. Hoffman, 2,952. Commissioners—Samuel W. Poorbaugh, 3,316; Joseph Horner, 3,294. Poor director—J. B. Markholder, 3,092. John A. Brant and George Steinbaugh were successful as auditors. Coroner, Dr. E. J. L. Louther; surveyor, C. H. Schmucker.

C. E. Pritts was elected county chairman by 3,756 votes, beating Edward Hoover, the Scull candidate, by 1,012 votes. David Witt was elected chairman pro tem. The chairmanship was voted on at the primaries owing to the recent factional fight.

Galbreath's Lead Increasing.

BUTLER, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—Unofficial returns from all but six of the 61 precincts in the county give Galbreath a majority of 372 over Greer for judge, and this probably will be increased to 450. Returns received from about half the districts on congress give Showalter a lead of 400 over McJunkin, and insures Showalter's nomination. Col. Huff of Westmoreland county, who broke into the contest here, has about 27 votes in the same number of districts.

For assembly, A. M. Doutbett and Thomas Hays are sure winners on the anti-Quay slate. Both ran ahead of Galbreath. J. B. Mates and N. H. Thompson were both candidates for re-election and had the support of the stalwart faction.

The leaders of the county ticket are: For sheriff, M. L. Gibson of Butler; prothonotary, John Clark of Washington township; treasurer, W. S. Dixon of Penn township. For county commissioners, Robert McClurg of Butler is nominated for first place, while Noah Henry and J. S. Patterson are close contestants for second.

The delegates to the state convention are W. C. Wolford, W. J. Marks and John R. Riddle, and it is said they are favorable to Elkin. They were elected without opposition.

Controller Brown's Victory.

GREENSBURG, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—Intense interest is felt here in the commissionership fight at yesterday's primaries. County Controller John H. Brown made a stubborn fight for Hugh Price of Bellevernon and J. L. McKeever of Irwin for commissioners. Ex-State Treasurer James S. Beacom, to the surprise of many, turned in his people for Controller Brown's man, Mr. Price, and his second man was George Earnest. Maj. Robbins also selected the controller's men, Mr. Price, but took J. L. McKeever of Irwin as his second choice. The Col. George E. Huff contingent was for W. D. Reamer and George Earnest. Messrs. Earnest and Reamer also composed the majority end of the board of commissioners.

The count of the votes polled clearly indicates that Mr. Reamer has been defeated and that Earnest and Price are the winners. Mr. Reamer charges treachery at the hands of some of his trusted lieutenants. In Mr. Earnest's district Reamer was given only five votes, while Earnest himself received 70 and Price was given 51. In Mr. Price's strongholds, Earnest was taken care of in the same manner.

Controller Brown's object, he announces today, in making the fight against the old board of commissioners, Messrs. Reamer and Earnest, was not because he did not believe they were capable officials, but because they had retained D. C. Ogden as their attorney, or the county's solicitor, and Mr. Ogden was the man whom he "was after." With the defeat of the old board, Brown insists his victory is complete.

Legislative Ticket Surprises.

Doubtless there will be some surprises when the full vote is counted in the legislative fight. Up until tonight 50 districts have been heard from on the legislative ticket, and it is indicated that the slate received quite a jolt. It is probable the delegation will be composed of George H. Stevens, Joseph B. Heister, W. F. Morrison and James A. McDonald. It looks as if Dr. L. C. Thomas is defeated. It is possible that Charles E. Whitten will pull through, heading off McDonald.

Samuel C. Stevenson made a remarkable run for his third term as register of wills. He defeats Hugh Henderson by a large majority. There seems to be no doubt that A. Shoemaker of Latrobe is a winner for county treasurer. Dr. A. G. Wynn is the nominee for coroner.

The sensational features at Monessen was an attempt to vote a lot of unnaturalized men employed as laborers at one of the mills here. A short time before the polls closed 11 wagonloads of aliens lined up in front of the voting place and offered to vote, but the leaders strenuously objected, and the caravan of Slavs and Poles were driven back to their homes.

Mixed Result in Cambria.

EBENSBURG, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—It now looks as if a mixed delegation will be sent to the state Republican convention from Cambria county, the majority of whom favor Elkin for governor. Three of the five delegates elected are Elkin men. The indications are that these three will be Senator J. C. Stineman, Dr. I. E. Sloan and Dr. J. S. Taylor. The other two will be Charles B. Cover of Johnstown and Webster Griffith of Ebensburg, who were "uninstructed" candidates. The convention will be held here on Monday. It is doubtful whether either faction will be able to control the convention entirely. Thomas Davis of Ebensburg and James M. Shoemaker of Johnstown will be nominated for assembly. J. G. Lloyd of Ebensburg for treasurer, Benjamin Jones of Ebensburg and W. S. Stutzman of Johnstown for commissioners.

SCOTTDALE, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—The Republican primary yesterday brought out barely 50 per cent of the total party vote, but 407 votes being polled. The vote for assembly was: Thomas, 372; Morrison, 240; Stevens, 276; Heisler, 265; Whitten, 315; McDonald, 163. For treasurer, Miller, 55; Shumaker, 293; Marsh, 82. For commissioner, Reamer, 111; Earnest, 229; McKeever, 154; Torrence, 64; Price, 243. For coroner, Miller, 240; Wynn, 168. For register of wills, Stevenson, 343; Robb, 82; Henderson, 29. Huff, for congress, and Gallagher, for recorder of deeds, had no opposition.

Recorder J. O. Brown, with Robert Ostermaier and others of the more prominent machine men will head the delegation and keep a watchful eye over the precious votes until the fight is over. The delegates are:

First district—John R. Murphy, U. H. Stauffer, Henry Hunneshagen.

Second district—S. C. Grier, T. P. Trimble, Dr. J. W. Dickson.

Fourth district—Thomas Delaney.

Fifth district—C. Brown, John Upperman, M. G. Leslie, Harvey A. Lowry, George T. Herrick, Franklin B. Booth, Clarence Burleigh, Dr. J. P. Kerr, John Benz, Peter Soffel, Sr., Charles Cavitt.

Sixth district—L. L. Davis, Pier Dannals, Dr. James A. Kirk, Miles Bryan, W. J. Dietrich and Albert Wagner. Alternates, Samuel S. Walker, D. B. Johns, D. W. Phillips, Samuel A. Graham, Thomas D. Watkins and Stuart Oliver.

Seventh district—M. D. Chaplin, John A. Brown, J. H. Young, S. F. McComb. Alternates, Frederick Bowery, Sr., Dr. W. A. Arnold, James Gracey, C. W. Gardner.

Eighth district—David Hardy, Frank Rhoades, Hiram Taylor, Henry Berg, A. E. Evans.

Elkin's Friends Dubious.

Among those who passed through the city last night, en route to Harrisburg, was State Senator J. D. Emery of Mercer county. The senator is friendly to Attorney General Elkin's candidacy, and the delegates from his county will vote for Elkin. Nevertheless there was no such confidence in his talk last night as would seem to be justified by the claims of the rampant Elkin boomers.

The Senator qualified his prediction of an Elkin victory by the following significant words: "If he can hold his delegates in line." He said Mercer would support the ticket, no matter who was nominated.

The three delegates from Mercer, W. H. Simons, Dr. W. G. Berryhill and M. B. Matthews, were at the Seventh Avenue and met several delegates from other counties in this end of the state. The talk around the hotel corridors indicated that Elkin's friends are not so confident of victory as they would have it appear. Several of the more active Elkin men shook their heads doubtfully when they began to look over the lists of delegates claimed by each side.

Indiana county is preparing to send a big delegation to the state capital to root for her favorite son. There is no mistaking the fact his home followers are loyal. The "Sink or Swim" clubs from almost every town of any size in the county will be there to render the Attorney General all the vocal aid possible. The delegation will number probably 500 and most of them will go down tonight, although an advance guard is already in Harrisburg.

THE ORGANIZATION HOLDS CONVENTIONS

Machine Slate for Congress, State Senate, Assembly and County Will Go Through Today.

The Republican congressional, senatorial, legislative and county conventions will be held here today. They promise to be the tamest kind of love feasts. The slate prepared by the machine leaders will go through without a hitch, and tonight the bosses will hie themselves to Harrisburg to witness the fight at the state convention. There is only one semblance of a conflict, and that will come up in county convention No. 3, where a struggle is scheduled between W. H. Guy and D. K. Clever for the nomination for director of the poor.

In anticipation of a hard fight at the polls against the combined forces of the Citizens and Democrats the machine leaders have sternly insisted on harmony among their subordinates, and as a result have taken the naming of delegates to the various conventions so entirely into their own hands that there is no chance for a squabble.

Congressman John Dalzell last night said that he would send a written acceptance of the congressional nomination of the Citizens party in the Thirtieth district, and that the honor was greatly appreciated by him.

Arrangements for fusion of the Democrats and Citizens on legislative and county tickets are proceeding smoothly. The members of the Democratic conference committee to arrange the details of the fusion ticket, in conjunction with a committee already appointed by the Citizens, are Chairmen Payne and Alcorn, Col. J. M. Guffey, John A. Fleichner, George S. Fleming, Albert J. Barr, L. F. Holtzman, W. J. Brennen, Henry Meyer and E. J. Frauenheim, all of whom have consented to serve.

The details arranged by this committee will, unlike the Citizens, have to be sanctioned by the Democratic conventions, as the committee has only advisory power. If the conference committee succeeds in forming a strong ticket, however, there is not likely to be any great objection to the arrangement from the Democratic conventions.

The Republican conventions will begin doing business at 10 o'clock this morning and the ticket will not be completed until tonight. The following is the schedule of the different conventions:

ELECTRIC FRANCHISE DEMANDED BY LABOR

United Labor League Calls on Councils to Make Grant to City Electric Company.

The United Labor league of Western Pennsylvania, at its regular session last night, took up the effort of the new City Electric Company to secure franchises from councils and unanimously voted indorsement of the councils' committee which has recommended the granting of the ordinance without imposing taxation on the company.

Resolutions were also passed that councils be asked to pass an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for failure to take old paper from walls that are to be repapered, on the ground that the old paper spreads disease. The board of health was asked to co-operate in this.

President William Boate presented the resolutions in relation to the City Electric Company's request for a city franchise. The resolutions concluded as follows: "We appeal to our representatives in councils to use their votes and vote in behalf of this company by granting the franchise without time limit or taxation upon its income, until such time that all such companies are compelled to pay such taxes." The legislative committee of the league was directed to work for the granting of the franchise.

The action in relation to old paper on the walls was taken at the instance of Frank E. Smith. T. B. McDonnell and M. J. Ryter of the Pittsburgh organization of painters, paperhangers and decorators. The Building Trades Council has taken similar action.

ONE DEAD, FIFTY HURT IN MICHIGAN WRECK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALPENA, MICH., June 8.—An excursion train on the Detroit & Mackinaw railroad, consisting of an engine and 12 coaches and carrying over 500 people, was wrecked at Black river while running 40 miles an hour. One man was instantly killed, three were probably fatally injured and nearly 50 others received injuries of various degrees of severity, ranging from bruises and cuts to broken limbs.

The killed:

AUGUST GROSINSKI, Alpena.

Probably fatally injured:

JOHN MCCARTHY, Alpena, left arm broken and serious internal injuries.

JACOB MONDORFF, Alpena, internal injuries.

The excursion was under the auspices of the German Aid society of Alpena. When the train reached Black river the tender jumped the track. Engineer Hopper instantly set the airbrakes and reversed his engine. The sudden stop threw the first two coaches of the train off the track and into the ditch. The first car was thrown half around and the next two coaches plowed through it and cut it in two.

PLOT IN PRETORIA.

Alleged Conspiracy to Blow Up Kitchener's Residence and Government Buildings.

LONDON, June 8.—In a letter from Pretoria, dated May 18, the correspondent of the Daily Mail says on the previous Thursday 60 arrests were made there as the result of the discovery of an extensive plot to blow up the government building and Lord Kitchener's residence and to spike the guns in the artillery barracks.

Those concerned in this plot were lawyers, chemists and Boer and Dutch prisoners on parole.

The war office has received the following message from Lord Kitchener, under today's date: "The disarmament of the Boers is proceeding satisfactorily and good spirit is displayed everywhere. Yesterday 4,342 rifles had been surrendered up to date."

In many instances the Boers have cheered King Edward, and they have sometimes expressed surprise that no army was sent out to receive their surrender. The Boers are allowed to retain their horses and saddles. Among the men who surrendered to the British authorities at Balmoral, Cape Colony, were four Americans, who will be granted free passage to Delagoa Bay.

A striking sign of the altered conditions in South Africa is that Lord Milner, the British lord high commissioner, rode from Pretoria to Johannesburg last Saturday accompanied only by two staff officers. A few of the Boer women still inveigh against surrender, but the general feeling among them is in favor of making the best of the situation.

BRUSSELS, June 8.—Mr. Kruger declares that he will end his days in Holland.

Royal Family Present.

LONDON, June 8.—The presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal peace thanksgiving devotional service in London and the progress of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's cathedral through cheering thousands of British subjects and visitors in London, gave thanksgiving day in the metropolis an historical feature.

further his interests as best they could. I emphatically deny that Dr. Flood is the candidate of Gov. Stone. He is no man's candidate, and if nominated will serve the Republican party, not a faction nor an individual."

While Col. Flood is unequivocal and emphatic it does not dispose of Stone's statement, made to the writer, and to many others, before Pennypacker's name was presented, that he (Stone) personally preferred Flood over all others mentioned for lieutenant governor.

"Pennypacker will be nominated," said Senator W. H. Andrews.

"Where will he get his votes?" asked an Elkin manager.

"I know, but am not telling," was Mr. Andrews' reply.

At midnight Senator Quay was asked for a "good-night" prediction.

"I can only repeat what I said last night—Pennypacker will be nominated," the senator answered. "You can keep that statement standing until the roll-call makes it a part of the convention's record."

FACTS WHICH TURNED QUAY AGAINST ELKIN

From Nine to Thirteen Democratic Districts Under New Apportionment—Others Close.

By CHESTER D. POTTER, Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 8.—It was his positive conviction, shared by other Republican leaders, that the nomination of John P. Elkin would result in the loss of nine or more Republican congressmen, possibly jeopardizing control of the next house of representatives, that induced Senator Quay to advise the attorney general to not be a candidate for governor at this time. Not only did the congressional aspect of the situation appeal to Col. Quay, but he also took cognizance of the fact that a mistake in the head of the state ticket would endanger the legislative and county tickets. The following analysis fully justifies the action of Senator Quay.

Under the new congressional apportionment bill passed by the last legislature, and considering the vote recorded in the state at the election for state treasurer and supreme judge last fall, the number of Democratic congressional districts was increased certainly to nine, possibly to 13.

The Sixth congressional district, Philadelphia, itself gave a Democratic majority. The Eighth district, Bucks and Montgomery counties combined, gave a Republican vote of 15,792 and a fusion-Democratic vote of 18,590. Lackawanna's vote was 8,818 Republican and 12,975 fusion-Democratic. Luzerne gave 9,079 votes to the Republican state ticket against 24,280 for the fusion ticket of Coray and Yerkes. Schuylkill followed with 8,859 to 10,847 for the fusion ticket. The Thirteenth district, Lehigh and Berks, gave Harris and Potter 11,306 and 10,196 for Coray and Yerkes. The new Sixteenth congressional district, consisting of Northumberland, Montour, Sullivan and Columbia, showed 10,177 total votes for the Republican state ticket to 10,856 against it. The new Twentieth district of York and Adams recorded 9,481 Republican to 12,225 for the fusion opposition. The Twenty-first district, Center, Clearfield, Cameron and McKean, was very close, 10,814 to 11,204 for fusion. The new Twenty-sixth district, Northampton, Monroe, Carbon and Pike, was overwhelmingly against the Republican state ticket, the vote showing 7,499 to 12,537 for fusion.

These were districts showing clear majorities against the Republican ticket by the union of independent Republicans and Democrats and a protest against the Stone administration.

But there were dangers of further disaster were the protests of independent Republicans permitted to go unheeded. The new Twenty-second district of Westmoreland and Butler showed a Republican majority of only 1,696, when it should have been four times as large. The Nineteenth district of Cambria, Blair and Bedford gave 15,932 Republican and 15,101 for fusion, a Republican majority of only 831. The Fifteenth district, comprising Tioga, Potter, Lycoming and Clinton, prevented even a more startling object lesson than this. The results in totals were 12,610 Republican and 12,125 independent Republicans and Democrats, a margin of only 485, while the ordinarily solid combination of Wayne, Susquehanna, Wyoming and Bedford counties, comprising the Fourteenth district, under the new apportionment showed up with only 1,231 majority for the regular Republican ticket.

The state ticket last fall was saved by the big vote cast in Pittsburgh, by the people who, while supporting it, were determined to repudiate Gov. Stone for his treachery, but with Elkin at the head of the state ticket next fall Allegheny and other western counties would bury it with an avalanche having for its objective Stone's candidate. These are some of the reasons which made imperative from a party standpoint Mr. Elkin's elimination as a gubernatorial candidate.

RAILROAD MEN READY TO HELP MINE STRIKERS

D. S. & S. Employes Decide to Refuse to Haul Non-Unionists Into Field.

DECLINE TO HAUL COAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Hazleton, Pa., June 8.—At their meeting at Freeland this afternoon the employes of the Delaware, Susquehanna & Schuylkill railroad unanimously refused to handle any trains carrying special officers, deputies or non-unionists. The following resolution addressed to Luther C. Smith, superintendent of the road, was adopted:

"Resolved, That owing to the strike of the anthracite miners, we, the employes of the Delaware, Susquehanna & Schuylkill will refuse to handle any trains carrying deputies, coal and iron police or non-unionists during the continuance of the present trouble."

Some of the Lehigh Valley trainmen declined during the past two days to handle these trains and crews were recruited with some difficulty.

The Lehigh Valley trainmen held a secret meeting here this afternoon and decided that they will not handle any coal mined at the collieries or soft coal sent over the Hazleton division to displace anthracite during the continuation of the strike. They will continue manning trains carrying officers and deputies and men recruited in the big cities, if they are not imported in such large numbers as to enable the companies to resume the mining of coal with non-union forces.

Rumors are current tonight that an effort will be made tomorrow to start the washery at the Cranberry colliery of A. Pardee & Co., and the No. 40 Lehigh Valley mine with non-union men. Everything was quiet in this section today.

Quiet at Headquarters.

WILKESBARRE, PA., June 8.—Strike headquarters of the anthracite coal miners were very dull today and presented a deserted appearance. There was no one about the place excepting President Mitchell and his secretary. Most of President Mitchell's time was given up today to receiving reports from men in the field. He said his information was all satisfactory.

Among the reports sent in were several that additional engineers had stopped work last night and that several fire bosses who had taken the places of strikers had also quit. At a meeting of engineers at Pittston last night the engineers who had not obeyed the strike order decided not to go to work tomorrow. The few union men who are still at work, Mr. Mitchell says, will be out during this week.

Most of the general superintendents of the big coal companies were seen today, but as a rule they had nothing to say bearing on the strike. One superintendent admitted that a good many companies are searching pretty hard for competent men to run their engines and pumps. Any number of volunteers have come forward, but the men desired are not so plentiful.

The house-to-house canvass of miners' committees in an endeavor to bring out those who have refused to strike and also those who have taken the places of strikers is still being vigorously prosecuted. Many of our men who are still working complain that their houses are stoned almost nightly. These assaults are made usually between 10 p. m. and midnight.

New Method of Ridicule.

The police department of this city today ordered the removal of all effigies that have been strung up since the strike began. A large number had been removed, but the police managed to find 18 of them in the city today. Twenty of them were seen in the region above Wilkesbarre as far as Pittston.

A new method has been found for holding up to ridicule those men who refused to stop work. At Forty Fort and at Miners Mills mounds were built in imitation of a grave and on them were placed placards containing this inscription:

"Death to scabs. Here lies the remains of ——." The card gives the name of the man held up to ridicule.

President Mitchell was in telephonic communication with National Secretary-Treasurer Wilson today over the situation in the West Virginia soft coal field. Mr. Mitchell said he had not yet received particulars of the situation in that region. Mr. Wilson, he said, did not know any more than he.

SHAMOKIN, June 8.—The homes of Charles Albert, Robert Thomas and William Rodin, non-union employes of the Mineral Railroad and Mining Company, were surrounded by a crowd of strikers early this morning and effigies of the trio were burned on bon fires. Women furnished the effigies. Rodin threatened to shoot if any one ventured on his premises and the crowd dispersed.

Acting under orders of Burgess William Thomas the police last night and today destroyed a number of effigies hanging about the town.

The Robert Pitcairn Concert band, with L. Z. Phillips as director, and assisted by the Harris quartet, made its first appearance of the season at Kennywood.

New Furnace Strike Possible.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8.—(Special.)—A conference of the executive committee of the furnacemens' union will be held tomorrow to decide whether or not the furnacemen in the Mahoning valley will be called out on another strike because three of the furnaces in the Shenango valley refuse to agree to the terms of the settlem...

THE SLASHER HAS WORKED IN OHIO

IN COLUMBUS HE SLASHED THINGS IN 13 HANDSOME RESIDENCES.

Columbus Authorities Know the Vandal Was a Pole and Believe the Man Pittsburgh Police Have Is the One They Want—Slasher at Rochester.

The Columbus police authorities are convinced that Joseph Durbinski, alias "Jack, the Slasher," operated in that city before he began his exploits here. Yesterday Superintendent of Detectives Phillip Demmel received a telegram from the police authorities there asking for a photograph of Durbinski and hoping that by means of it they can identify the man with the slashing operations committed there over two months ago. At that time there were thirteen houses entered in the same manner in which Durbinski carried on his work here. The Columbus police were unable to get any clue on the man who worked there, until Durbinski was captured in this city.

On Friday Detectives Owens and Kelly of Columbus were in this city to take back two men arrested here on a charge of larceny. While here they were taken to the county jail and Durbinski was shown to them. The detectives told of similar depredations having been committed in their city and that they were never able to locate the vandal.

In Columbus the vandal not only slashed the furniture but he stole many valuable articles and much jewelry. Last week the Columbus police found some of the stolen articles in a "fence" outside of that city. This establishment was kept by a Jew. When questioned he said he had bought the articles from a Pole.

When Detectives Kelly and Owens returned to Columbus they told of the man under arrest here and that he was a Pole. They were immediately detailed to see the proprietor of the "fence," and he gave them a discription of the Pole who sold him the stolen articles. This discription is identical of that of Durbinski.

Last week when Durkinski was closely questioned by Detectives Swineheart and Jones, he said that he had been in Columbus for several months, but it was two years ago. Detective Swineheart says there can be no dependence placed on Durbinski's statements, as they have been most conflicting. He believes, however, that Durkinski is the man who operated in Columbus.

According to a special telegram received by The Gazette from Rochester last night a "slasher" has been at work there. Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning some one entered the handsome residence of James K. Pollock in West Jefferson street and after cleaning out the pantry, and preparing a good meal, proceeded to ransack the house.

Every room on the first floor was entered, and chagrined at finding no cash, chairs, couches, etc., were ripped and cut with a sharp knife. An inmate of the house heard the noise and gave the alarm, but the intruder escaped.

COLONEL REND READY TO GRANT AN ADVANCE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

THURMOND, W. VA., June 8.—Notwithstanding the rain today the miners have been parading the narrow valley of New river. Yesterday 85 per cent of the miners in both the New and the Kanawha river districts, were out, and it is thought that tomorrow not 5 per cent of the miners in these fields will be at work. Col. W. P. Rend, who employs more than 1,000 miners here, announced today that he will concede to the strikers' demands.

MONTGOMERY, W. VA., June 8.—While many miners worked here yesterday it is now believed that the strike will become general in this district tomorrow. Deputy United States marshals are at the McDonald mine to enforce an injunction, made permanent in 1896 by Judge Jackson, against interfering with property or men.

NORTH FORK, W. VA., June 8.—The coal operators here have given notice that all strikers must vacate company houses tomorrow. Several hundred non-union men were at work here yesterday.

DAVY, W. VA., June 8.—There has been no serious trouble here yet, but the operators announced today that they will operate their mines with non-union labor tomorrow. The strikers say that no non-union men shall enter the mines. The operators are putting guards armed with Winchesters about their property.

ELKHORN, W. VA., June 8.—Most all the miners who continued at work yesterday at the various mines in the Flat Top and Tug river fields announce this evening that they will join the ranks of the strikers tomorrow. It is acknowledged even by operators that not 10 per cent of the miners in the two fields will be at work tomorrow. The operators will endeavor to bring non-union men into the Tug river field next week to take the places of the strikers.

KEYSTONE, W. VA., June 8.—The striking miners will have additions to their ranks tomorrow. A few collieries in the Tug river and Simmons branch fields which operated yesterday will be completely tied up. The operators ignored the appeal of the United Mine Workers for a joint meeting at Bramwell June 11. Several operators here are now arranging for non-union miners, and it is said that 1,000 will be here by the middle of next week. The operators also claim that they will enforce their order that all strikers shall vacate company houses. The strikers say they will not move out and serious trouble is feared.

BURIAL LEAGUE FORMED.

Pittsburghers Start Out on a New Line With a New Jersey Charter.

Some Pittsburghers have taken advantage of the liberal corporation laws of New Jersey to form a company to bury the dead. The scheme is not unlike the burial features of secret and insurance societies. The Burial League of the United States, as it is called, guarantees burials to anyone who has paid into its treasury certain amounts.

The society starts with capitalization of $50,000 and the incorporators are H. B. Moeser, J. W. Alexander, L. H. Wentz and Jesse R. Worley of Pittsburgh.

Militia Stops Mob.

HATTIESBURG, MISS., June 8.—Late last night a mob attacked the county jail in which was confined Walter Blankhead, a negro charged with having attempted to assault Mrs. Garner, a white woman. A company of military repulsed the mob which afterward dispersed.

ISTHMIAN CANAL MAY CONSUME WEEK IN SENATE

TWO MEASURES IN HOUSE

Time Will Be Divided Between Pacific Cable and Irrigation Bills—Former Not Likely to Pass—The Latter's Friends Are Hopeful.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The greater part of the time of the senate the present week will be given to the inter-oceanic canal bill. An attempt probably will be made by the supporters of the Nicaragua route to secure an agreement to vote on the bill next Saturday, but the probabilities are all against success.

Senator Harris of Kansas will open the debate tomorrow in support of the Nicaragua route and he will be followed by various other senators for and against the measure. Senator Fairbanks has given formal notice of a speech on Wednesday. He will support the Spooner bill.

It is probable that Senator Hale will call up the naval appropriation bill during the week, but he has given no notice of such intention.

The house program for this week contemplates consideration of the Pacific cable and the senate irrigation bills, which the rules committee is desirous of having disposed of before the time set for taking up the Philippine government bill. Special rules have been prepared for consideration of both measures. The cable bill could be given two and the irrigation bill three days.

The cable bill provides for an American-built and an American-laid cable to connect our insular possessions in the Pacific with the Pacific coast. It carries a direct appropriation out of the treasury for this purpose. The prospects for its passage are not considered bright. Mr. Corliss, the author of the bill, professes confidence that it will pass. The opposition to the measure believe the cable to the Philippines should be laid by private enterprise.

Some of the house leaders, including Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, it is understood, will oppose the irrigation bill, but the friends of the measure are hopeful of its passage.

All the appropriation bills except the general deficiency, which will not be ready until next week, have passed the house.

M'CAULEY'S NEW TUNE.

When He Was a Gubernatorial Candidate He Said Veterans Opposed Elkin—Different Tale Now.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—(Special.)—The interview in the Elkin organs today with ex-Auditor General McCauley of Chester, saying the old soldiers of the state are practically unanimous for the nomination of John P. Elkin, and that this sentiment was apparent at the recent encampment of the state G. A. R., caused a good deal of amusement here among Pennsylvanians, who recall a visit that Mr. McCauley made here about two months ago. Then the gentleman from Chester had the gubernatorial bee in his bonnet, and during that visit told Senator Penrose, in the presence of others, including the writer, that the old soldiers were not in favor of the nomination of Mr. Elkin. Mr. McCauley then said:

"During the past three weeks I have visited the G. A. R. posts in nine counties in the central section of the state and found the veterans were unanimously opposed to the nomination of Mr. Elkin. They were of the opinion that the nomination of Elkin for governor would mean the defeat of Senator Penrose for re-election and of many of the Republican congressmen."

Mr. McCauley seemed very much in earnest at that time.

SPAIN A GOOD CUSTOMER.

Holds No Commercial Grudge Against the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—Spain holds no prejudice against United States goods, according to an extract from the annual volume entitled, "Commercial Relations of the United States," which was made public at the state department today. Our trade with Spain, it says, could be greatly enlarged if a favorable commercial treaty were negotiated. United States Minister Storer, who is about to return to Madrid, will endeavor to negotiate such a treaty. The extract says:

"American goods, according to Vice Consul Wood of Madrid are to be met with in the most unexpected places in Spain. They consist of plows and other agricultural implements, pumps, condensers, steel-working machines, hardware of all kinds, spouts, faucets, mining machinery, bicycles, typewriters, hair-clipping machines, electric motors and fans, firearms and cartridges, dental goods, lumber, phonographs, cinematographs, etc."

Free Delivery for Vandergrift.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—(Special.)—Congressman Jack has secured free delivery of mail service for Vandergrift, to go into effect on September 1, and the establishment of a new postoffice at Vandergrift Heights, with John R. Pearce as postmaster.

LIVED TO BE 105.

Mrs. Bridget O'Connor Was a West Virginia Pioneer.

ELKINS, W. VA., June 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Bridget O'Connor of Womelsdorf, the oldest woman in Randolph county and probably in the state, is dead at the age of 105 years.

She had lived in this county for 84 years, and told many interesting stories of her early life west of the Alleghany mountains when there were few settlers in this section. She had killed many bears and deer in her time. She was a native of County Rosscommon, Ireland.

For years I could not eat a piece of shortcake. To be good it should be rich, and I am exceedingly fond of it made so. However, I always suffered if I dared touch any. Last summer I wanted some and thought I would chance it, knowing of what benefit Ripans Tabules had been to me. I ate some and found that it agreed with me perfectly. Of course I take the Tabules regularly and just as directed.

TEN PAGES.

The Duty of the Delegates.

The delegates to the Republican state convention are gathering at Harrisburg to nominate a candidate for governor. The responsibility for the nomination is wholly theirs. They have been chosen at primary elections held by Republican voters and in these primary elections full power to make a choice has been delegated to them. They are not deputies exercising limited powers, but delegates in whom is vested the full responsibility that attaches to original and final jurisdiction. They cannot divide this responsibility with any other person or persons or in any manner divest themselves of it. Whether the choice is a good one or a bad one it is their choice. Instructions have been given to delegates by some county conventions and in some cases instructions have been given by meetings composed of mere return judges, whose sole duty it is to report the votes of their precincts and have them tabulated. Such instructions do not divest the delegates to the state convention of a shred of their responsibility or power. The purpose of their election remains the same. The resolutions are merely the complimentary expressions of those persons who have no voice or vote in the state convention and are without governing force. Candidates for congress and others are also chosen at conventions, but resolutions adopted at such gatherings are never considered to irrevocably bind the nominee. He is chosen for his character and ability and is accountable for the use of his best judgment in the performance of the duties he is elected to discharge. The same duty rests upon the person chosen to be a delegate to the state convention. He must take into consideration the state of public sentiment and the character, ability and availability of the candidates and act in accordance with the best information before him. This information is best secured in conference with the other delegates, whom he will meet for the first time on the eve of the convention.

A great responsibility rests upon the delegates to the Republican state convention now assembling at the state capital. They should deliberate carefully and choose wisely. There is more than the governorship at stake in the choice they make. On the wisdom of their selection depends in a large degree the measure of Republican success in the elections for congress and the state legislature, as well as in the county elections. They can chill the ardor of the campaign or they can inspire it with an enthusiasm born of confidence by the selection they make for the head of the ticket. Their duty is plain and their responsibility is unmistakable.

The Vacation Period.

A brief space for recreation and rest is as necessary a part of the modern business and workingman's yearly plans as the most important work of the entire busy season. In recent years the vacation idea has expanded to such proportions that the man who refuses to accept the philosophy of it is either a churl or circumstances unhappily deprive him of the privilege of such a respite. If there be encouragement to idleness under cover of taking vacations it is confined in its effects to a very small circle of American workers, and is too insignificant in its results to be used as an argument against the growing practice of a brief rest at stated times from the arduous and pressing duties of life. Naturally, the hot summer months, when the energies are at their lowest ebb, are selected as the best time for this outlay period, and the first days of mingled heat and humidity generally start vacationists on their quest for rest and coolness.

It is a mistake to think, however, that a vacation is valueless that does not include a long journey to some distant and inviting spot, either by the seashore or on the mountain, or across the ocean. Ordinarily for the rest-seeker these journeys involve far more weariness and discomfort than would be suffered if we kept on with our daily tasks. Take a vacation if you can, by all means, but if you secure it as a means of gaining strength for future tasks be wise enough to make rest and sensible recreation the prime objects. Change of scene and the introduction of new interests m sometimes prove the most restful remedies for tired and wornout brains. The danger that dwells in the vacation question is not that it will be restricted or denied, but that in our heedlessness we will come to misuse it to our own hurt.

Take a brief respite from hard work, if it be only within your own threshold, but with the most unlimited resources at your command be just as careful not to spend the time so as to come to the end of it worse off in mind and body than when you started.

The Teachers' European Tour.

This morning we announce the names of the public school teachers who will take an European tour this summer at the expense of The Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph. The selection was made altogether by the readers of the two papers, and so keen was the competition that the enormous total of 11,314,448 ballots were polled. No contest of the kind ever aroused such widespread interest or brought out such a heavy vote. To count and classify the ballots was a big undertaking made manageable only by the expedient of printing a series of ballots and putting a time limit to each series. A large force of enumerators was employed upon the work and the count of each series was completed and the results tabulated before the next series was due. In this way we are able to make this early announcement of the final result, thus giving the successful competitors over three weeks in which to make their preparations.

Although the competition is ended the interest of the tour is now just beginning. The 25 successful candidates represent the public schools of Western Pennsylvania and their movements will be fraught with interest to every locality. The party will be accompanied by representatives of The Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph, and both by cable and mail advices the public will be kept informed of the experiences of the party. The impressions gathered and observations made will constitute a fund of instruction which will be a permanent influence of immense value in the work of the schools.

The Issue at Harrisburg.

Intense interest is felt throughout the state over the proceedings of the state Republican convention of this week. This lively and almost unprecedented attention has been attracted to the convention mainly through the attempt of the governor to perpetuate his power in the person of a chosen representative. The question before the people is, Shall Gov. Stone and the machine he has attempted to build up be allowed to override the will of the Republican party in Pennsylvania and jeopardize the fortunes of the party in an effort to secure approval of acts which have been universally condemned?

Attorney General John P. Elkin and his desire to be governor are not the issues. He and his ambition are merely being made use of by Stone for his own purposes. The Stone claim for vindication is the Alpha and Omega of the entire Elkin campaign and as such it will be dealt with in Harrisburg on Wednesday and the verdict then rendered will be finally reviewed by the voters in November.

A Campaign for Cleanliness.

Modern curative science has achieved some of its most notable victories through a practical exemplification of the old proverb that "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Following the theory that disease can be more easily prevented than cured doctors and sanitary experts have joined forces and the result has in every case justified the union. When Cuba had been liberated from the clutch of her Spanish oppressors the American government, upon which had fallen the duty of resuscitating that stricken land, found that her chief city was a pest house of dirt and disease from which went out contagious germs that threatened the Cuban people with a danger even more insidious and deadly than Spanish cruelty. The lamented Waring laid his life as a sacrifice upon the altar, but the result was a cleansed and purified Havana and disease was conquered ere it had a chance to fasten its fangs upon the people. In Cleveland, Ohio, only recently an epidemic of smallpox was held at bay and finally stamped out by unusual and heroic methods of sanitation.

These are but two vivid illustrations in the lesson that Pittsburgh should learn. There is a two-fold reason why this city cannot afford just now to dally with dirt. The season is upon us in which refuse and filth breed disease conditions in the human system more rapidly and more surely than at any other time. In the second place, while dirt may be confined to one section of the city the disease that follows in its wake has no metes and bounds as is as likely to knock at the door of the rich and cleanly as at that of the poor and untidy. The campaign for better sanitation, clean streets and death to dirt makes its appeal upon the broad ground of what is necessary and good for one may prove the salvation of the many.

The Philippine Issue.

A news dispatch from Boston represents Senator Lodge as saying he has every reason to believe the Philippine bill will be an issue in the congressional elections. "We welcome discussion and are prepared to go before the people and let them decide," he comments. He further points out that in Oregon the Philippine policy was an issue in the congressional elections and the two Republicans elected were given larger majorities than their predecessors ever received.

The Philippine issue has been made quite clear by the discussions in the senate. The measure under consideration was the establishment of civil government and individual liberty, and the Democrats voted against it. To establish and sustain the liberty of the people the Philippine bill which has passed the senate and will pass the house provides land laws that will enable the people to take title to land, something that has been impossible under the Spanish system that prevailed. The natives will now be able to obtain homesteads and the best lands, which were held by the friars, will be opened to them. The Republicans can stand on such a record and reach victory.

As to the lands of the friars the United States will acquire them by purchase through the Philippine government and open them to the people. The direct and honest proposition of President Roosevelt through Gov. Taft has won the favor of the authorities of the Catholic church and little difficulty is apprehended in the negotiations. A committee of cardinals will deal with the matter and cable advices from Rome say that "Cardinal Rampolla was agreeably impressed by the frankness shown by Gov. Taft in sending him a copy of Secretary Root's instructions for examination." These instructions define Gov. Taft's authority, the principles which must regulate from the American point of view the negotiations in regard to the purchase of the lands, and insist upon the fundamental distinction between church and state which must be observed in the system of government which is being established in the Philippines. The justice of American dealings will be undoubtedly apparent to those with whom Gov. Taft has opened negotiations. The whole matter is an open page and the people of the United States can read and interpret it. It is a part of the Philippine record on which the administration will go before the people, whose verdict is awaited with confidence. Oregon has given the first expression.

A Patient Husband.

For the sixteenth time in three years the wife of a Philadelphian has disappeared from her home, and for the sixteenth time, it is presumed, her patient husband is searching for her. He has had much experience in that line, for on each of the previous occasions he sought and found her and each time she has announced her willingness and readiness to return home with him. It appears that the woman has no substantial complaint against her household and its environments, but has simply contracted the habit of running away for the fun of it and finds pleasure in such occupations as cooking in restaurants. There are points, however, at which patience ceases to be a virtue, and the wife of this patient Philadelphian is liable to run away once too often, while he carries into effect the sentiment of that once-popular song: "I Don't Care If You Never Come Back."

It is pretty well assured that we are going to have a glorious Fourth of July. Now let the authorities see that we also have a clean one by sweeping the rubbish and dirt out of the streets.

Those liberal Democrats up in New York state ought to know by this time that D. B. Hill is not one of the men who can be hissed out of the game.

Occupants of the bleachers will please not interfere with the progress of the game.

Senor Buenosamino indignantly denies that there is any suspicion of pie in his patriotism.

There are some overzealous people in Maryland so unkind as to want to disturb the Wellington corpse.

There is wide difference in getting what we think we deserve and getting what is in store for us sometimes.

STRENUOUS SCIENCE.

Professor Hill One of Many to Risk His Life for the World's Good.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

The story of Prof. R. T. Hill's experiences in the Island of Martinique and his own report of his attempt to examine Mount Pelee at close range read much like the narrative of a daring and well-trained correspondent, the main point of difference being that the professor shows much greater technical knowledge than any correspondent could be expected to have, and aims at scientific accuracy rather than newspaper effect. Yet nothing could be more realistic and impressive than his account, and, it may be added, few men would have had the courage to undertake or the endurance to go through with what he did.

It illustrates the strenuousness of modern science and the personal risks its votaries willingly incur in the pursuit of knowledge. Chemists, physicians, electricians, explorers, aeronauts, experimenters of all kinds do not hesitate to take their lives in their hands in the hope of benefiting mankind or adding something to the store of human knowledge. Prof. Hill is a geologist of national reputation, a long-time member of the United States geological survey, and an authority on volcanoes. If he had chosen to do so he could have remained in his study and constructed his theories on the statements and reports of others. He preferred to get his information at close range and, therefore, hurried to the scene of action as quickly as possible. There, after a perilous journey by horseback and on foot, he succeeded in getting nearer to an active volcano than any other scientist has ever been, and in making observations which, when amplified, will prove very instructive.

Many persons have spoken of the terrific lightning bolts that accompanied the eruptions, but Prof. Hill points out that they were not lightning in the ordinary sense.

"They followed," he says, "distinct paths of ignition, but were different from lightning, in that the bolts were horizontal and not perpendicular. This is indisputable evidence of the explosive oxidation of the gases after they left the crater."

The most intelligent newspaper correspondent could not have noted this difference between the bolts that shot through the air in Martinique and ordinary lightning. Prof. Hill says he was terrified, but adds:

"I was not the only person that was frightened."

As an expert on volcanoes and a frequent visitor to the West Indies, nobody knew better than he did the risk he ran by going to the edge of the crater, but, having made his observations and got away with his life, though badly used up, he doubtless feels repaid.

Confidence in Quay.

From the Harrisburg Telegraph.

It is a remarkable fact that in the midst of all the factional bitterness engendered by present political conditions, Senator Quay has retained the confidence of the Republican party. Even those who disagree with him on the anti-Elkin proposition admit that his leadership has been brilliant and conspicuously successful. His personality has had much to do with his successes.

The College Graduate Is Monarch This Week

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 8.

In New York, as in other American cities, the college graduate is in the ascendant this month. When diplomas of the University of New York were handed to the lucky ones at the Metropolitan opera house on Thursday night the immense building was jammed with an enthusiastic crowd, which flowed outside to Brodway and almost stopped traffic for an hour. It seemed as if everyone within reach desired to take part in the exercises, at least as spectators, if nothing more. The fact that Miss Helen Gould was to be made an LL. D. did not explain the interest, although that incident was an eminently pleasing one. The truth is that New Yorkers are in the habit of looking on colleges and the young folk attending them as their own particular concern. This is exemplified by the eagerness with which people generally are looking forward to the commencement exercises at Columbia on Wednesday next, together with the annual dinners, initiations to the Phi Beta Kappa and other ceremonies bearing more or less on the business of commencement day. There will be nearly 800 degrees and diplomas awarded. This unusually large number is accounted for, in part, by the fact that there will be 50 more teachers' college candidates than last year (the exact number being 157), with proportionate increases in other departments. The Phi Leta Kappa elections took place yesterday afternoon in college hall, and while there was not so much dramatic excitement attending them as were seen at Yale on "tap day," not long ago, the quadrangle above Morningside park rang with the shouts of participants and spectators. There is some disappointment because the society has decided not to hold a public meeting this year, like that which took place in 1901, when Bliss Perry delivered an address and Dr. Joel E. Spingarn read a poem. The grounds of the university and the streets adjacent presented an animated appearance today, many hundreds of visitors being attracted by the knowledge that the big day of the year will be celebrated there this week, while others were relatives of the young men that are to receive diplomas.

Symptom of Interest in West Point.

One of the peculiar effects of the interest felt in the approaching celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of West Point academy to be noticed in this city is the increased sale of West Point uniform caps for small boys. Military headgear is always loved by the American urchin. You can see every kind of soldier's hat and cap on the small boy of this city from the continental helmet to the rough rider's sombrero, to say nothing of firemen's hats and admiral's cockade hats. But just now there are more West Point caps sold in the department stores than any other kind of uniform cap, and the familiar gray of the academy is finding its way in hundreds of households and scores of public schools. To the New York boy, the West Pointer is a hero always, but particularly at a time like this, when the century's existence of the academy is talked about on all hands.

The Hoffstot Family Visiting Europe.

Among the passengers for Liverpool on the Cunarder Lucania, which sailed from this port yesterday, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Hoffstott, H. P. Hoffstott and Miss Ada Hoffstott of Allegheny.

Partridge Says the Force Is Better.

Commissioner Partridge said yesterday that the police department of New York city is in much better condition than it was five months ago. It is comforting to hear this, in the face of the severe criticism hurled at the department and those at the head of it. Commissioner Partridge ought to know; but the question is, does he? So far as the casual observer can determine, from what he sees of policemen in the streets, there is no difference between their behavior now and in Tammany times. Some policemen are gruff, but most of them are polite when asked a question, and the tall fellows in Broadway are as handsome and gallant as ever to women trying to cross the road. To men, the Broadway squad is generally hail-fellow-well-met, and that is all a man can expect of a body of officials who have been called "the finest" for so many years that they believe it themselves. One thing seems to be assured, and that is that Col. Partridge will not be asked to resign as commissioner of police by Mayor Low.

The New Electric "L" Cars.

Those new electric cars on the Third avenue "L" are so roomy and comfortable that New Yorkers, long used to the stuffy, malodorous, gloomy cattle-pens used on that portion of the Manhattan railway, can hardly realize the improvement. The new cars are finished in light-colored hardwood, have very wide windows and are as lofty as the average passenger coach on the Pennsylvania railroad. In addition to all this they are illuminated at night by incandescent lamps, so that it is possible to read a newspaper as comfortably as in a well-equipped club parlor. As for the electric propulsion, that works well, as a rule. Now and then there is a blockade, as there was on Friday night, when a motor broke down, causing the stalling of a dozen trains along the route; but that is an exception. As for the open cars, the delight of riding in them on a warm day cannot be over-estimated. There is a roof, but sides are open for the whole upper half, and the breezes which are usually blowing at that height from the street have free way. It is understood that the Sixth avenue "L" will be fitted with these cars before very long. The great hope of the people who use this branch of the road is that the open cars will come before the arrival of frost.

Stuyvesant's 300th Birthday.

New York does not contemplate celebrating the 300th anniversary of the birth of Petrus Stuyvesant, which comes in this year; but there is considerable talk about the old fellow in these days. It is recalled that a great many of the conveniences enjoyed by citizens here were contemplated by Stuyvesant, while some were actually begun by him. He paved the first street with stone blocks, which thoroughfare, in the shadow of Wall street, is called Stone street to this day for that very reason. He began the system of bulkheads for preserving the water front, which is today the finest in the world. He had a fire department and established a "bureau of incumbrances," although that was not its title, which was charged with the duty of keeping stray pigs and inanimate objects out of the way of citizens in the streets. It is possible there will be a "Petrus Stuyvesant tercentenary" in New York, if some of the old Knickerbockers get enthusiastic, but it is not likely.

A Good Living in Fruit Peddling.

As showing that fruit peddlers in New York earn a fair living, a young fellow who came over from Italy a year ago has $250 in a savings bank here and owns his own pushcart, too. His father arrived from the old country a day or two ago and was detained at Ellis Island by the immigration officers to be deported because he had come penniless. The father sent for his son, who produced his bankbook and pledged himself to support his parent. Most of the pushcart peddlers about the city are Greeks or Italians, and although they are perpetually hounded by the police they all manage to make a living and save money as well. The other day in a police court it was declared that some of the peddlers have to pay the policeman on the beat 25 cents a week. This was denied by the officer, and may not have been true, but this ordinary pushcart man is a bright business fellow and he is quite willing to hand a quarter to a policeman now and then for the slightest kind of protection, even to the extent of being allowed to remain in one place for the 10 minutes specified by the law when he pays for his license. The peddler that saved $250 in a year is not an exception, by any means. Any of the fraternity can produce a neat "pile," if it is absolutely necessary.

Souvenirs from Martinique.

Volcanic dust from Mont Pelee is for sale in New York. Some of it may be bogus, but most of it is the real thing. The British emigrant ship Lena arrived at this port a few days ago with seven tons of the dust in the hold as ballast, and that amount will go a long way in souvenirs for the people of this city. According to the skipper of the Lena the dust fell upon the decks of his ship for more than 12 hours and was then shoveled into the hold. The Lena was off Barbadoes at the time. Ten cents' worth of Pelee dust is a common article of purchase here now, although one of the papers offers a sample of it free to anyone sending a stamped, directed envelope.

The Blind Newsboy Who Was Killed.

John Marley, the blind newsboy, who was run down and killed by a hansom cab at Sixth avenue and Thirty-third street on Friday night, was a well-known figure about the Tenderloin. With two other blind newsboys, he used to walk arm in arm along Sixth avenue or through Herald square every night, and everybody knew them. A bright-faced lad was Marley. He used to swing along with his companions, who each tapped on the pavement with a heavy cane to warn people of their approach, as well as to feel their way, and the boys were always laughing and chatting pleasantly. It is not strange that the lad was killed at that particular point, for it is a menace even to people with good sight, and hansom cabs are driven as recklessly here as they are in London and Paris. That tells the tale to any Pittsburgher who has made the "grand European tour."

Bat Masterson, the Gambler.

Bat Masterson, the gambler, who is under bail charged with being concerned in a "brace" faro game on the South Side, is not a bad-looking fellow. When he was marshal of a mixed community in the west he found it necessary to kill a few toughs, but he says he is not such a "killer" as some people say. He laughed yesterday when he was asked if he had killed as many as six men in one day, and 28 altogether in his career. Bat has been in Pittsburgh often, and the sporting element there know him well. In appearance he is the typical sport of decent ways—well groomed, quietly dressed, smooth-shaven and soft-voiced; but he had a wicked-looking "41" gun in his pocket when arrested, nevertheless.

Boys Play at Striking.

There is a strike of messenger boys at the main office of the Postal Telegraph Company; at least some of the boys that have left the employ of the concern say they are on strike. The Postal manager say they are discharged and that new boys are in their places. Around the office there are no signs of disturbance in the messenger department, and the boys waiting to be sent out are in their accustomed state of somnolence, so far as can be seen at a cursory glance.

Another Term for Coiner Brooks.

The case of the coiner, George Brooks, who is likely to serve another long term in prison on account of his besetting weakness, is regarded as the most striking example of a ruling passion drawing its victim to ruin that New York has seen for a year. Brooks has been out of Sing Sing less than two months after serving nine years for counterfeiting. He could have made a living by honest means, probably, but he preferred crime. So he was taken red-handed yesterday, and is pretty sure to go back to Sing Sing for another nine years, at least. He takes it philosophically, however, and is said to look upon another long term in the grim prison up the river as the natural thing for him. The police are tickled over his capture, for he is known as the most dangerous counterfeiter, in a small way, who ever operated in this city.

Price Catalogue for the New Game.

I quote these New York ping-pong figures, which may be interesting, now that the game has taken such a firm hold of the country, from the Battery to Schenley park and on to Chicago, Denver and San Francisco: "Ping-pong tables that can be converted into dining or library tables at a moment's notice, weatthered, Flemish or polished golden oak in mission style, closed 3 by 4 feet, open 9 feet long, $13; folding tables of hardwood for ping-pong, legs and frame of hardwood, painted and scored top, made of board that will not warp from dampness, $9; painted and scored tops to place over any ordinary table, made of compo board, $4 50; ping-pong table covers of green oilcloth, scored, $1 40; ping-pong sets, 50 cents to $7 25; bats, 12 cents to $1; retrievers to pick up fallen balls, 50, 40 and 50 cents; English ping-pong balls, 25 cents a dozen; French balls, 25 cents a dozen."

Closing of Theatrical Season.

Two of the stock theaters will close at the end of this week. At the American, "Rip Van Winkle" is the last week's offering, while at the Murray Hill "Why Smith Left Home" will play the people out at the end of the season. There are no new productions announced for this week at any of the Broadway theaters, for the first time for some weeks. There are half a dozen musical successes holding forth, however, and the indications are that they will run all through the hot weather.

Outing Season Begins Early.

Usually the big rush out of New York does not begin until June 15 or July 1; but this year, for some unknown reason, it began earlier, and thousands who have heretofore remained in town throughout June and July are rushing to the country, to the seashore, the mountains and the lakes. From all sources come reports of the tremendous early season rush to the hotels. Along the coast and up in St. Lawrence river district the June business is said to equal that of the July last year. Of course, the crowds going abroad so early this year are accounted for because of the coronation, but the rush to seaside resorts is a mystery to the railroad and steamboat managers.

PERSONALS

"Our goods are not exported to America owing to the high tariff," said W. B. Lange, a manufacturer of machine tools, of Johnston, Scotland, at the Monongahela House, last night. "I have been touring the country for the past six weeks and have come to Pittsburgh to get acquainted with members of firms from which I purchase tool steel, and to visit the large industrial plants. I will place no orders this year. The reason so much steel is imported to England and Scotland from Pittsburgh is that it has certain peculiar features that make it more serviceable than the steel made in England. Many Scotch machinists are coming to America. The reason is that they can get better wages in this country than at home, and their opportunities are also much better, even if the cost of living is higher."

Henry G. Morse, president of the New York Ship Building Company, of Camden, N. J., came to Pittsburgh last night. This company has a large modern shipbuilding plant at Camden, which includes 141 acres of land with 3,600 feet of water front on the Delaware river. Among the directors of the company are A. W. Mellon, Pittsburgh; Myron C. Wick and J. Craig Smith of Youngstown. The company will launch in July one of the largest vessels it has yet turned out. The vessel will be 620 feet long and will have a carrying capacity of 16,000 tons. The company has orders ahead for the next year and a half.

George H. Felix, president, and Nathan and Frank B. Hall, of the city water commission of Reading, passed through the city last night to Chicago, to attend the annual convention of the American Water Work's association, at which 400 members are expected to be present. Sand and mechanical filteration will be discussed, and the merits of each brought out.

Maj. Max Klein, of Allegheny, accompanied by his son, went to Philadelphia last night to attend the graduation of his daughter. They will meet Mrs. Klein in Philadelphia, who will accompany them to Darlington seminary, at West Chester, where Miss Klein will graduate on Wednesday.

W. A. Hirsh, of Hirsh Bros., the largest manufacturers of umbrellas in the country, passed through Pittsburgh last night to Chicago. "Our business is very bad at the present time," he said, "owing to the generally dry weather throughout the country."

George C. Clarke, assistant engineer of construction, of the Pennsylvania railroad, went to Bellefonte, last night. He is a graduate of State college, and will attend the reunion of his class, and the commencement exercises which will be held today.

C. P. Ramsey and wife, R. Turner and wife, J. J. Collins and S. R. Tinsley of Indianapolis are at the Monongahela House.

Blue Outlook for Elkin.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The rounding up of the delegate elections leaves the candidates with publicly pledged or instructed support as follows: Pennypacker, 126; Elkin, 107; Waires, 14, and there are 109 uninstructed delegates, with the two in the First Luzerne district in contest. No account is taken in those figures of the claims of the several candidates or their supporters to delegates whose position is not publicly known. Those that have not themselves made public declaration of their preference or have not been instructed are classified with the 109 uninstructed, and with these the 38 Allegheny delegates are included.

As the convention will be composed of 358 delegates it will require 180 to effect a nomination. From the uninstructed delegates, therefore, Judge Pennypacker must get 54 votes to secure his nomination, while Mr. Elkin must have 73.

In every county contest Mr. Elkin has sought to have the delegates bound to him by instructions, and where instructions have not been given it has been because the sentiment was not in favor of his nomination. For that reason he can expect but very little from the uninstructed list, which will divide chiefly between Pennypacker and Waires, the former getting very much the larger proportion, though the latter's friends are claiming that he will have some twenty votes more than are now instructed for him. That Judge Pennypacker will easily get the 54 votes now necessary to nominate him, and more, is the belief of his friends, and many of Mr. Elkin's more discerning supporters are beginning to understand this.

It has been asserted that the Allegheny delegation might hold the balance of power, but there is no prospect that this will be the case and the nomination will easily be reached. The Republicans of the commonwealth are looking for a result that will command united support for the ticket. They are not likely to be disappointed.

Why Not Look This Up?

From the Philadelphia Press.

In Pittsburgh many employes of the public safety department are being dismissed for the alleged reason that they refuse to pay assessments levied for political purposes. People are standing around wondering what can be done about it. After a while some one will think of the act of 1897, to be found on page 275 of the pamphlet laws of that year. It covers such cases pretty completely.

ENGLAND CAN OPEN THE POT.

With the Two Kings She Now Has She Might Hold Up a Kicker.

From the Baltimore Sun.

There are two kings in London now. One is Edward VII., the sovereign of the British empire; the other is Lowanika, monarch of Barotseland, Africa, who has journeyed all the way from the heart of the Dark Continent to attend King Edward's coronation. His African majesty is as black as Erebus. His hair is not straight and silky like that which adorns the head of Edward. But nevertheless and notwithstanding, he is of royal blood, is entitled to all the privileges of royalty and will receive a place of honor in Westminster when Edward goes through the coronation performance.

People who are the king business have a community of interest which makes them very considerate of each other. Lowanika, from the viewpoint of some cynics not wedded to royal institutions, would be more useful if employed in grubbing a cabbage patch, hoeing cotton or weeding tobacco on a southern plantation. But his sable majesty knows a good thing when he sees it. A plantation hand has to work. Lowanika would scorn such degradation. Moreover, his African subjects, just like King Edward's more enlightened subjects, are willing to support a royal family. Lowanika hasn't as "soft a snap" as his brother monarch of Britain. He has to take his pay in flocks of sheep, herds of cattle, grain, ivory and other commodities. Perhaps he also draws a modest salary from the British government. King Edward gets millions in gold and has stately palaces. Lowanika probably lives in a house built of mud. But he is contented. He has a good, easy time of it. His blood is as royal as that of Edward. He may not be an elegant ornament in a London drawing room. He may eat with his fingers. He may be a stranger to the bathtub. But he will be a lion in the most exclusive social circles in Great Britain.

When Edward and Lowanika shake hands and exchange the compliments of the season they will "wink the other eye" and say in chorus: "Aren't the people easy, and isn't it easy to be a king?" Britain's beauty and chivalry will give the African monarch the most gorgeous time of his life. England doesn't draw the color line on a king even if his complexion is as black as ink and his manners those of primitive man. Everything with a crown "goes."

ONCE MORE WE WEEP.

Another Pet Policy Is Slain by the Merciless Scientist.

From the Washington Post.

One after another all the old excuses that temperance men have made for taking along a supply of whisky when they have gone on hunting or fishing expeditions are being ruthlessly swept away. Science is cruelly oppressive at times, obtruding itself where it is not wanted and demolishing fictions which have journeyed through the ages hurting no one and helping many. For countless generations it has been held that whisky or rum is an antidote for snake poisons. Although there is an old authority for the belief that intoxicating liquor of any kind, and especially "the wine when it is red," "biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder," that impression of conviction has not militated against the widely prevalent theory that the drink which cheers and likewise promptly and thoroughly inebriates, if one takes enough of it, will kill the poison that the fang of a rattler, copperhead, and other varieties of serpents injects into the human system.

Is the faith of mankind in that ancient doctrine to be hurled on to the rubbish pile of blank oblivion? Must Deacon Jones and Elder Smith and their brethren, who like to go far into the woods to hunt the humpin bunny or to sit in the shade beside the rip pling brook where the speckled trout disport —must they leave the jug at home or b driven to the alternative of admitting th they really need the sustaining force of whis at the ratio of two gallons of that sustainer an ounce

HAGGIN CROWD MAY MERGE BIG CAR CONCERNS

Rubino, Who Contested Pittsburgh Company's Policy, the Promoter.

DEAL HINGES ON TERMS

Heavy Fixed Charges of Pressed Steel Car Co. May Be Stumbling Block. Since Rubino Suit Failed, He Opened Consolidation Deal.

Jacob Rubino of New York, representing his own and the heavy interests of J. B. Haggin, the copper king, in the Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh and the American Car and Foundry Company of New York and St. Louis, is making a vigorous effort to combine the two interests with stock issues amounting to $85,000,000 at par. The matter now hinges on terms.

The market values of the stocks of the two companies are about equal, the preferred shares of the American company in recent transactions being higher, while in turn the common shares of the Pressed Steel Car Company have been higher.

But there stands as an impediment to an exchange, at par, of securities of the American company for those of the Pressed Steel Car Company the $4,500,000 of 5 per cent bonds of the Pressed Steel Car Company, which remain unpaid. This is in addition to a purchase-money mortgage of $235,000 on one of the plants. Of the last issue of bonds of the Pressed Steel Car Company, $5,000,000, the first $500,000 was lifted in February this year.

Dissatisfied with Management.

The Haggin-Rubino interests in the Pressed Steel Car Company has for some time been dissatisfied with the management. This interest, some months ago brought suit in New Jersey to enjoin the officers of the company from purchasing the plant of the Illinois Car and Equipment Company at Hegewisch, Ill.

Objection was made on the ground that the investment, then intended for a cash consideration of $100,000, the Hegewisch interests to also get $500,000 of the stock of the Pressed Steel Car Company, would be a profitless one and further objection was that the company was already sufficiently burdened in having to meet annually $500,000 of its new bond issue.

The court dismissed the bill for an injunction and since then the Pressed Steel Car Company executives have closed a lease for the Hegewisch property, after reorganizing it as the Western Steel Car and Foundry Company. The Pressed Steel Car Company took $856,000 of $1,250,000 of new stock issued with an option on the rest to be closed any time withinthe term of the lease. The outright purchase was deferred, it is said, by reason of the objection of the Haggin-Rubino stock syndicate.

May Split on the Terms.

Now, to protect their interests in the Pittsburgh company Mr. Rubino is endeavoring to close the merger with the American company. In the American company J. B. Haggin is a director. Vice President James W. Friend of the Pittsburgh company is now in New York participating in the efforts to complete a merger. President Frank N. Hoffstot has headquarters there, and it is there that the negotiations have been going on.

Both interests are anxious to arrange the merger, but even yet there may be a split on the terms. Several like efforts were made before, but then there was not the urgency of the Haggin interests of important scope in both companies. Mr. Hoffstot will soon be abroad for his summer vacation and it may be that the deal will go over till his return. However Pittsburgh interests say that this is not necessarily so.

Since the many changes in the Pressed Steel Car Company, which have brought about the organization of its now powerful rival, the Standard Steel Car Company, which is now rushing to completion at Butler works almost equal to those of the Pressed Steel Car Company, ex-Judge James H. Reed, a director in the United States Steel Corporation, and T. Hart Given, president of the Farmers Deposit National bank, have become directors in the Pressed Steel Car Company.

Judge Reed was presumed to represent the steel corporation interests, which supply from the Carnegie mills all the steel required by the Pressed Steel Car Company.

Rumors Going for a Week Past.

A week ago The Gazette printed in its telegraph columns the New York report that a deal was on for the merging of the two big car companies. It was learned definitely, from thoroughly reliable authority, yesterday, that the deal is only awaiting the reaching of satisfactory terms, both sides being anxious to carry it through. Mr. Given declined to either affirm or deny the report. Judge Reed said simply that he knew nothing about it. By others, however, the status of the deal was freely discussed.

In the more recent transaction of Pressed Steel Car Company stock in the open market the preferred shares have sold at 85 to 85½, and the common at 46 and 47. The American Car & Foundry shares sold at about 31 for the common and 90¾ for the preferred. So far as the deal is concerned the deal could be easily arranged, but there is in the way $4,500 bonds of the Pittsburgh company falling due in the amount of $500,000 this year, while the American Car & Foundry Company has no bonded indebtedness.

The earnings of the Pressed Steel Car Company last year are reported as $1,027,000, the stock issue is $35,000,000 and $2,450,000 dividends were paid on the preferred shares. Net earnings of the American company were $4,055,820, and $2,209,000 dividends were paid out of this, and on the common shares of the total issue of $60,000,000.

Barnhart, a plastering contractor of McKees Rocks, and took a number of tools. The stolen property was found in a 10-cent lodging house on Water street, where McGinley had left them.

No Ground for Report—A report from Clarksburg, W. Va., says that Follansbee Bros. of Pittsburgh have purchased a site there for a large sheet and tin plate plant. B. G. Follansbee said yesterday that this is not true, adding that his interest had not gone far enough along with plans for mills to make any announcement.

Slav Put Up a Fight—George Mowes, a Slav, was arrested last night at McKees Rocks and locked up on a serious charge. It was alleged that he attempted to assault a 14-year-old girl at his boarding house. Have a Postoffice Problem—McKeesport citizens are perplexed. They want a fine postoffice building in the business part of the city and congress has appropriated $100,000 for both site and building. With that money a good building can be erected 10 squares away from the busy part of town, or a cheap structure can be put up on a good lot, but there is not enough for a fine building on a fine lot. Property in the downtown district is worth $1,000 a front foot.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

Two Catholic Organizations Held Enthusiastic Sessions—Officers Elected.

A large meeting was held at Duquesne hall, No. 216 Penn avenue, yesterday, under the auspices of the Father Lambing Total Abstinence society. John J. Maloney reported that the society is working under difficulties, as the proposed warehouses in the Point district are driving out many families, yet much good is being accomplished.

Speeches were made by Charles J. Smith, James O'Brien and others. Considerable friendly rivalry has sprung up over the election of officers of the Diocean union, which meets in New Castle tomorrow. The delegates from this society were instructed to disregard personal preferences and vote for the best interests of the temperance cause.

The temperance society of St. John the Baptist's church, Thirty-second street and Liberty avenue, held its annual election yesterday, and the following officers were elected: President, John Kilgallon; vice president, A. J. O'Brien; secretary, John M. Conway, Jr.; treasurer, the Rev. M. A. McGarey; guard, Bernard Costigan; marshal, John O'Hare. The Rev. P. A. Brady was chosen spiritual director. The Rev. Father McKeever, rector of this church, claims that this is one of the largest societies in the diocese, and has nearly all the young men in the parish on its rolls.

After the election speeches were made by the new officers, and by the Rev. M. A. Brady, the Rev. Father McGarey and Charles D. McShane. The society will hold a reception at Kenwood lawn tomorrow evening.

ANTI-TRUST LAW MAY HELP THE STRIKERS

President Said to Be Preparing to Take Action Against Anthracite Combine.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—President Roosevelt is still carefully watching the coal strike. That official Washington will take some recognition of the situation now seems certain. It is not impossible that the case may in some form go up to the attorney general, as there is already ample evidence taken by officials of the government to show that a combination of the roads handling anthracite coal exists for the purpose of controlling the price and output.

That this combination, formed and operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and the interstate commerce law, is in a measure responsible for the present strike there is no doubt, and it is in this connection that some official action may be taken tending toward forcing a settlement.

PARK SERVICES ARE TO BEGIN NEXT SUNDAY

TALKED TO THE NEWSBOYS

Young Paper-Venders Were the Object of a Special Program and Sermon at the Second Presbyterian Church—Many of the Lads Present.

Beginning next Sunday the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young of the Second Presbyterian church will inaugurate a series of park services in Schenley park. Dr. Young has concluded arrangements with the city officials by means of which he is permitted to continue his good work in the park this year as in former years. The services will be held at the music stand "rain or shine." A large new tent with a capacity of 1,000 has been procured for use in case of storm. It will also be used for after-meetings. Dr. Young is, as usual, enthusiastic over the park sermon. After an instructive sermon to the newsboys of the two cities last night, Dr. Young spoke earnestly of his plans for the summer work.

"The park sermon," he said, "has come to stay. Although it may seem a bit spectacular and a novelty to some persons, yet I have no apology to make. We are doing the work in God's name. We shall go anywhere and everywhere to save a soul. This is our aim.

Has a Big Field.

"We have been successful in interesting people in the park sermon, and this alone is a strong enough argument to continue. God's word can be heard with much spiritual benefit in the natural surroundings of the country as well as in our spacious churches. The apostles did some of their greatest work for souls in the open air."

The services held in the Second church last night for the newsboys was the first devoted entirely to the little lads who sell the big dailies. There was a goodly gathering of these urchins of the street, and a dozen or more stayed for the after-meeting. The church was invitingly decorated with cut flowers and plants. Special music was provided by Benjamin Franklin Betts and chorus, and Miss Helen Grimes. During the course of his sermon Dr. Young said:

Let everybody cheer the boy who has one foot on the lowest rung ladder of life and proposes to climb to the top. Where are the newsboys who sold the Critic and Traveler and Globe and Gazette and Dispatch and Post and Chronicle and Telegraph and Allegheny Mail and Leader during the great strike of 1877?

Many Earned Fortunes.

Many of them you will find tomorrow in the general officers' chairs of our principal railway companies or managing immense business concerns or directing public affairs or sitting at the editorial desk. More than half the street paper venders then were men. The men are dead, the most of them, and the boys have nearly all pushed on to more important positions. One lad I know from bread with seven brothers and sisters and his widowed mother 27 years ago, has been a newsboys' tasks ever since, and possesses tonight a handsome, hard-earned fortune and the esteem of the community to boot.

Let everybody cheer the boy; let him know he must to the climbing, but let him keep thinking of the things that are higher and better. A life was to be at the top of success. To stand before the King of Heaven and Earth with a clean record, there is the height of happiness. Jesus and Paul made their own way in life and moved every day and stand forever before the Eternal King commended and crowned. The something to our thought that keeps remembering some one else and wondering how that person would like what you do was put in you by God himself. It is the place wherein He wants to stay in your nature. Keep it for Him and continually ask 'Would God be pleased with this?'"

FAREWELL SERMON BY THE REV. J. J. GORHAM

Pastor of the Wylie Avenue Baptist Church Forced by Illness to Leave His Congregation.

The Rev. John Jay Gorham, for two years pastor of the Wylie Avenue Baptist church, severed his connection with that congregation yesterday. As stated in The Gazette last week Mr. Gorham has been ill for some time and has been forced to give up his ministerial duties. After fully recuperating he will consider a call to some other section. In his farewell sermon yesterday morning he dwelt upon the pleasant relations that have existed between him and his congregation, and the good accomplished by means of earnest support. He said in part:

Every period of time, no matter how small, has its lessons which are often overlooked and eventually lost. But the more experience we have crowded into time, the greater and more numerous are the lessons taught by the years.

During the years we have been together as pastor and people the time has been so filled with various experiences that now, at the end, we may review the principal experiences of these days and remember the right hand of the Most High. As we do so I am sure we will be willing to allow some things to rest in oblivion, while others shall be to us lessons that shall be of permanent and lasting value to the individual as well as to the church as a body. Many of these lessons will be of value, chiefly because they are just such lessons as we need in life and service.

The first lesson is that the church of Christ grows in strength and influence just as the individual members develop and attach to the local congregation. God can carry on His work without the help of any individual, but he has evidently made it a law of the kingdom that the strength and the individual manifestations the success of the church. The second lesson is that the building of a Christian church is a serious task, nothing sad nor sorrowful, but serious and joyful. Third, that opportunities once lost can never be regained. They can never be brought back. Fourth, that no duty is small in God's sight. Many of them may seem to us small and unimportant, but they are not so in God's sight. Fifth, that unity in church work is essential to church success. Whatever success we have had these years is due to harmony of action among us. Sixth, that the strongest and tenderest ties which unite people are those formed in Christian service. Such ties are never broken by either distance or circumstances.

SYRIANS HEAR MASS IN THEIR OWN TONGUE

Unusual Ceremony Took Place in Old Orphan Asylum Chapel in Tannehill Street.

In the chapel of the old Orphan asylum Tannehill street, yesterday morning, some 300 Syrians, men and women, from various parts of the city, gathered together to hear mass in their own tongue. It was the first time in this city that such a service had been held.

The Rev. Father Gabriel will remain in this city for some months, with a view to establishing a permanent congregation of the Syrians and erecting a chapel for divine worship. Father Korkemas preached to the people in their native tongue. The scene in the chapel of the Tannehill institution resembled much the extant paintings of early Christian gatherings. The women sat on one side of the church and the men on the other. The celebration of mass in this language differs only in the liturgical part or the manner of celebrating.

The essential part of the mass, the consecration and elevation of the sacred elements is the same as can be seen in any Catholic church the world over. The attractiveness of the Syrian rite is in its solemnity of form, such as the incensing of the altar and the wine and wafer before consecration. The mass is partly sung, partly chanted. The responses, yesterday morning, were sung by a big, swarthy Syrian.

SOUL-CULTURE ESSENTIAL.

The Rev. Paul S. Leinbach Preached a Special Sermon to Children.

In Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, the Rev. Paul S. Leinbach, pastor, preached a special sermon for the children. He said in part:

"The best thing to do with your child is to bring it to Jesus. Better far than social advantages, mental culture, or even physical health, is moral and religious training. That child is neglected which receives no soul culture. Christ's people should make children central in the kingdom. To feed His lambs, to regard them as a heritage from the Lord, to nurse and train for Him is the great privilege of Christians."

ENTHUSED BY REDMOND.

United Irish Leaguers' Meeting in Lawrenceville Yesterday Applauded the Nationalists' Stand.

The monthly meeting yesterday of the St. Lawrence branch of the United Irish league, at the St. Lawrence Catholic church hall, North Atlantic and Kincaid streets, was largely attended, new enthusiasm being lent by the recent stand of William Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, in the British house of commons. The Rev. Father Joseph Toner presided and made the principal address. He spoke of the Redmond incident last Friday as an impetus to strengthen the St. Lawrence and every other branch of the league.

"There was not a ministerialist in the house of commons who did not feel the force of Redmond's words and the truth of them," said Father Toner. "We must build up this league; there is everything to work for."

Jeremiah Kelly made an address along similar lines, and M. J. Connolly, the secretary of the branch, made a short address.

It was voted not to suspend the regular meetings on the first Sunday in each month during the summer. About a score of new members were added yesterday.

WAYSIDE INN OPENING.

Committee of 900 Yesterday Made Further Arrangements for Gala Event.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows' committee of 900, having in charge arrangements for the opening of the Wayside Inn, the new home of the order at Grove City, which will occur on July 17, met yesterday afternoon in Mendel's hall, Allegheny.

Chairman L. K. White appointed a committee on transportation, consisting of S. S. Hager, chairman; James Doherty, S. A. Steele, Cleon Gurgueles, John Weber, John M. Kinley, Mark Klunk, J. L. Dunne, J. B. Gilpin, George Good, Walter Bonnett and W. J. Porter. A commissary committee was also appointed, of which August Loch is chairman and Henry Ochse assistant chairman.

The new home was discussed at length. The indications promise that the occasion will be a gala one in the history of the order.

AN INTERESTING TOPIC.

Ex-Postmaster General Will Address Students on Practical Education.

John A. Brashear, acting chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, was informed yesterday of the subject of the address which will be delivered at the university commencement exercises by the Hon. Charles Emory Smith, former postmaster general. Mr. Smith will speak on "Practical Education as a Factor in American Development."

The commencement exercises will be held on June 19. Mr. Brashear said last night that in addition to the invitations sent out by the students the president and the faculty invite all educators to attend the exercises and hear Mr. Smith. A good many letter carriers have asked for invitations, as they would like to hear their former chief.

The Resolute is still towing Alabama coal from Greenville to New Orleans.

The packet Kanawha will, no doubt, be found at the wharf this morning, as she is a light draught boat.

Capt. James A. Henderson is of the opinion that the Keystone State will come as far as Sewickley and hopes to bring her through to Pittsburgh.

Capt. John Martin is looking after the repairs to the towboat Lewis. James Perry Martin is learning to be an engineer on the Lewis and is progressing rapidly.

All of the boats of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet line have been equipped with whistle fire alarms. Every waterboat has one of these alarms in it.

Inspector W. H. Turner, commander United States navy of the Fourteenth Lighthouse district, sends out the following notice to pilots and masters: "The light on Silm Island Tow Head will be shown on tow head as long as possible, and when not shown there it will be shown at the foot of the island."

You would believe a friend who told you he had been cured of these perilous consequences of overwork, dyspepsia, vertigo, palpitation, &c. Friends for nearly three-quarters of a century have related a like experience with Dr. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge.

CHILDREN'S DAY IS OBSERVED IN MANY CHURCHES

SERMON BY REV. THOBURN

Reviews History to Show That the Place of the Child in the Church and Influence of Religious Instruction Have Ever Been Unique.

In nearly all the churches of the two cities Children's day was celebrated yesterday with special services and addresses suited to the childmind. In not a few of the churches the children themselves had a prominent part in the services. Decorations were a feature. In many instances the programs were carried out on an elaborate scale. This was particularly so in the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., pastor. The Sunday school room was attractively decorated and the children took part in exercises that proclaimed the beauty of nature and nature's God. Albert A. Horne addressed the little ones on the import of the day. In the morning the Rev. Dr. Thoburn preached a special sermon, his subject being "The Child in the Church," and his text "All my children shall be taught of the Lord, and great shall be the peace of thy children." He said in part:

Sunday Schools in Jerusalem.

At the darkest hour in Jewish history, when city and temple were in ruins, and the Jews were scattered abroad among all nations, God gave Ezekiel the promise of better days, and assured them of it, by declaring that all their children should be taught of the Lord, and that as the result, great would be the peace of their children. It was one of the early intimations that the nation of Israel, which takes good care of the children, will prosper and be invincible. A pertinent theme, indeed, for Children's Day in Sunday schools.

The place of the child in the church and the influence of religious instruction have ever been unique. Two thousand years ago there were more Sunday schools in Jerusalem than there are now in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. They were called synagogue or law schools. The Hebrews were great for searching, or tracking out the scriptures. The rabbinical traditions are full of allusions to these schools. They date back to the time when Methuselah was a teacher and Abraham a pupil in them.

Among their proverbs are: "The children must not be driven from the schools, even though it were to help rebuild the temple;" and, "He who teaches the child of his fellowman shall occupy a prominent place among the saints at last." They interpreted this from the psalms: "They go from strength to strength; everyone of them appeareth in Zion before God," to mean going from one source of strength to another. From the synagogue, from the house of reading to the house of prayer—or, as we would say, from the Sunday school to the church.

Hebrew Children Well Drilled.

All Hebrew children from 5 to 10 years of age were drilled in Leviticus—the discipline and ritual of their church. From 10 to 15 years of age they were given the historical books of the Bible and were allowed to enter the discussions of the rabbis and ask questions. The influence of such training is to be seen to this day in the loyalty of the Jews to their faith. Such persistency in creed and character cannot be found elsewhere in the world.

If all children could have always had such a shaping hand laid upon them, the world's history would read vastly different. Paganism crowded its customs through the centuries until cruelty and neglect seemed to be childhood's portion everywhere. During dreadful ages the children had no chance. But better days dawned at last. All the great reformers gave particular attention to the training of children. The mighty work required much time, but it paid in the end.

The papacy instituted two methods to check the reformation. One was the inquisition and the other was the instruction of the children. The inquisition helped rather than hindered Luther's work, but the school idea saved the day for Rome. The Jesuits trained the children for one generation and then they commanded the men of the next. Some of these days a history will be written, in which the influence of children on the world's civilization will be traced, and in that story it will be seen that the Sunday school has done more for the best governments than the war council.

The Sunday School of Today.

It was an epoch in the child's world when John Wesley inaugurated that mighty religious movement which has freshened the nations for a century and a half. He was what he was because of his home training. His mother could say with Hannah, "For this child I prayed." Wesley gave great care to the religious culture of the children. He said: "Unless we can take care of the rising generation, the present revival of religion will only last the age of a man." Lecky, in his history says: "The Methodists appear to have preached especially to the children." Robert Raikes and the modern Sunday school movement grew out of the Wesleyan revival, and the old world entered into the golden age of children.

The new science of paidology is very rapidly claiming the attention of all thoughtful men and women. It inquires into the life, growth, ideas and being of the child. The Sunday school of today is made very attractive. Teaching has been made easy. Memory has had no part on the program. The amount of work done by unpaid teachers and officers can never be told.

But the Sunday school was never intended to take the place of the religious instruction in the home and the worship in the church. There are multitudes of professed Christians who never pray with their children, or read to them the scriptures. The poor Sunday school is charged with the terrible responsibility of making good Christian men and women out of children in spite of their parents. There ought to be more children at the church and more older people at Sunday school. We have reached the time when another revival is needed which will empty our homes into the church rather than the world. The whole church, young and old, should constitute the Sunday school. "All thy children shall be taught of the Lord," about Him, by those whom He sends.

POWER OF CHRIST INSPIRES THE BEST

THE REV. L. WALTER MASON DISCOURSED ON THAT POINT.

He Talked of the Deeper Desire Felt in Every Soul Which Has Led Men of All Ages to a Sense of Kinship.

In the First Unitarian church yesterday morning the Rev. L. Walter Mason, pastor, delivered an instructive sermon from the text, "That the Power of Christ May Dwell Upon Me." He said in part:

It is not wholly just to judge the ideals of men by their vocations and their apparent ambitions. There is not a doubt but that the most apparent desires and ambitions of mankind in general are not wholly spiritual.

The desire for pleasure in purely worldly things, for protection against future want, for wealth, for fame, for leisure, for learning. These things while not spiritual in the ordinary acceptance of that word, are nevertheless, the desires of spiritual beings. They are not evil. They are human wants, inherent in human life. But while all these desires are variant, both it quality and quantity, so that people cannot understand each other, there is a deeper desire more or less consciously felt in every soul, which turns the face toward a common source, and so leads men of all ages to a sense of kinship. It was this deeper desire which in the midst of privations and dangers and heroic labors led the apostle to declare that he suffered all these things gladly. "That the power of Christ may dwell upon me."

THE REV. L. WALTER MASON,

What did he mean by that? One thing is sure. It must have been something real. What is it in a person that impresses us, that which constitutes the power of the personality? It is the soul, the spirit! The spirit of a man has power for good or evil. The good spirit has power for good. And to refine and elevate that good quality to its highest terms we have literally the power of the holy spirit, and that is the greatest spirit in the world. That is what the apostle means by the power of Christ. It is the power of a perfectly healthful spirit. To desire this is to wish for the best that life can give—the power of spiritual health.

Had Jesus always been sorrowful as he has been pictured, he might have been known for his sympathy, but not for his power. The weeping and sorrowful soul is the one who feels the suffering and loss in the world more than he feels the lift of its life-giving saving power. And we might say to him with the psalmist: "Why art Thou cast down? Trust Thou in God." Habitual sorrow implies lack of trust and faith. Let us remind ourselves that "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power and of love and of a sound mind."

AGNES ZIEGLER FOUND DROWNED IN A BATH TUB

Shocking Occurrence in an Allegheny Boarding House Yesterday Morning.

SHE HAD FAINTING SPELL

Clever Nurse, Who Had Won the Title of Doctor by Taking Special Course, Came to an Untimely End as She Was About to Bathe.

Dr. Agnes Ziegler, aged 40 years and single, was drowned in a most peculiar manner at her boarding house, No. 15 Montgomery street, Allegheny, yesterday morning. She was found partially disrobed with her head and shoulders submerged in a bath tub that was nearly filled with water. Her lower limbs were over and outside the edge of the tub.

The supposition is that the woman was seized with a fainting spell and fell into the bathtub head first and was drowned. Dr. Zeigler arose early yesterday morning and expressed her intention of going to church. She laid out the clothes she proposed wearing, and then went to the bathroom. It was then about 8:30 o'clock. She was not found until almost two hours later.

Had to Break a Door Down.

At 9:30 o'clock one of the other boarders went to the bath room and found the door closed. He walked away and returned about a half hour later. Finding the door still locked he walked away a second time. In about 15 minutes he returned again.

This time he knocked at the door. Receiving no reply and not hearing anyone inside he became alarmed and called Mrs. Hazel Gillespie, the boarding house mistress. Mrs. Gillespie tried to open the door, but could not, and going into Dr. Zeigler's room found she was not there, and seeing the clothing laid out at once surmised that the doctor was in the bath room and probably ill.

Mrs. Gillespie called a number of times to Dr. Zeigler, and getting no response asked two men in the house to break open the door. They did so and found the woman dead in the bathtub.

Coroner Jesse McCleary was notified and the body and the dead woman's effects were removed to the morgue. Later the body was identified by E. C. Sawhill of No. 1218 Velo street, a relative of Dr. Zeigler.

Had Had Other Fainting Spells.

Dr. Zeigler was born in Claysville, Washington county, where she has a married sister living. She first went to board with Mrs. Gillespie last October, and during that month had a fainting spell while taking a sponge bath in her room, when she fell on a small gas stove and burned herself severely. In falling she struck her face against the mantel, cutting her forehead and knocking out two front teeth. She has been living in Allegheny the greater part of the last five years. Formerly she was a nurse. Of late she has been studying to be a physician and for several weeks this spring she attended lectures at a sanitarium in Philadelphia, and only came back to Mrs. Gillespie's house last Thursday.

She was a hard student and a saving woman. Several bankbooks were found in her room showing large accounts. In addition to this several deeds for property were also found in her trunk. Her body will be taken to her home in Claysville this morning.

CAPITAL STOCK INCREASED.

Duquesne Realty Company Has Raised Its Capital from $50,000 to $250,000.

The Duquesne Realty Company of Pittsburgh, recently chartered under the laws of New Jersey, met Saturday at Camden and voted to increase the capital stock from $50,000 to $250,000. The increase is to provide for extended operations. The company recently handled the launching of a new suburb to Steubenville, O., following the building by the La Belle Iron and Steel Company of extensive new works there.

The tract handled by the Duquesne company, which has headquarters in the St. Nicholas building, was divided into 600 lots. The company is arranging to handle several other important properties near Pittsburgh. The controlling interest in the company is represented by Francis Park, Jr., Robert H. Wilson, G. E. Kingsley and Joseph R. McQuade of Pittsburgh.

Gov. Davis in Church Again.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., June 8.—Gov. Jefferson Davis today accepted the invitation of the Baptist church of Russellville, his home, and rejoined that church. The governor's friends claim this is a vindication of him by his home people against the action of the Second Baptist church of Little Rock, in withdrawing fellowship from him.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newark, N. J., June 8.—Manager Fred Clarke and his champion crew of Pittsburgh Pirates dropped over here today from New York and succeeded in defeating the Newark team of the Eastern league by the score of 8 to 5.

The game was not a brilliant one, but during it several sensational plays were made. Loose playing characterized the work of the locals from the start to finish of the contest.

Four fielding errors was the record made by the Newark nine and had the players supported Pitcher Stricklett better the champions would have been given a much harder battle to win.

The largest crowd of the season came to the baseball park this afternoon to see the champions play. Many people came from New York and hundreds came in from smaller towns.

Eddie Poole was on the rubber for the Pirates while Stricklett held down the slab for Newark. Both pitchers received poor support. The champions at times played very carelessly. Wagner, at shortstop had three glaring errors and Beaumont dropped two flies in middle field. Pittsburgh only succeeded in getting nine hits off Stricklett of which Bransfield got three. Leach also had a share in the hitting, having a single and double. Schrall had three hits, every one of them being for two sacks. The score:

GIANTS WERE SHUT OUT.

Champions Put Up a Splendid Game and Defeated Freedman's Aggregation.

The Pittsburgh champions administered a coat of whitewash to the Giants at the Polo grounds in New York, Saturday, defeating them by the score of 7 to 0. Pitcher Charles Phillippe was on the rubber for the Pirates and performed splendidly, allowing Andrew Freedman's aggregation but four hits.

The Deacon also took a turn at batting and secured two of the Pirates 10 hits, one of which was a home run. Clarence Beaumont figured conspicuously in the stick work, having two singles and a two-bagger. The only error of the game was charged up to Wagner, but it was not costly. The score:

Great Preparations Being Made at Little Washington for Coming Contest.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—Great preparations are being made by Manager Stevenson of W. and J. baseball team for the game with the Carlisle Indians here on Tuesday afternoon. It will be the first time that an athletic team from the Carlisle school ever appeared in Washington and special interest is taken in the contest.

It is expected that large crowds of people will visit the Washington county street fair. Preparations for accommodating a record-breaking crowd are well under way.

Prior to the game the two teams will parade the principal streets of Washington. The local team is in good condition and expect to land a victory. Ridgely will be on the rubber. Forkum, the star second baseman, has left college, and a sub will be placed in his position.

DETROIT, June 8.—Powers' home run drive over the left field fence this afternoon, which also scored Cross, won the game for Philadelphia. Four of the five runs scored were home runs over the left field fence. It was a fine, snappy game, both teams doing some sensational fielding.

Detroit had a chance to tie the score in the ninth inning when Dillon and McGuire singled with one out. The next two men popped up flies, however, and the chance was lost. Score:

COUNTRY CLUB MEMBERS TRY TRAP SHOOTING

Team of 70 Has Been Organized and Trophies Will Be Contested for.

WOMEN'S EVENTS ALSO

Wives and Relatives of Members Will Also Hold Private Shoots—Latest Electrical Traps Have Been Placed on the Grounds.

The Pittsburgh Country club has now the largest and strongest shooting organization in Western Pennsylvania. Though it has been organized scarcely a month only half the club membership, 70 lovers of trap shooting, are now enrolled. The club is fully twice the size of the Herron Hill Gun club, which has hitherto been the leading gun club of Pittsburgh.

Six handsome silver trophy cups have already been donated and the first one of the series, the president's cup, offered by S. H. Vandergrift, will be shot for on Saturday.

The other five will be shot for each week and as there are plenty of members willing to put up trophies there will probably be a cup for each Saturday shoot during the season.

Next in order after the president's cup will be the ones presented by A. M. Jenkinson and W. B. Rhoades. The club will hold shoots each Wednesday and Saturday, and events for women handlers of the guns, it is announced, will be a specialty, though this end of the program has not yet been completed. There are several cups already offered for the women's events.

The grounds, which furnish an ideal shooting site, are located on the Country club property in the Nine-Mile run district of the Twenty-second ward.

There are four traps of the latest electric pattern now in operation on the grounds. The membership includes some of the most prominent Pittsburgh business men, and is as follows:

S. H. Vandergrift, president; J. Grout Anderson, vice president; Joseph Glenn-Jenkinson, secretary and treasurer. Board of directors—S. H. Vandergrift, J. Grout Anderson and Joseph Glenn-Jenkinson. The other members are George Wilson, J. D. Davidson, Edward Brainard, William Elkins, A. R. Carroll, E. B. Brobst, Milton Taylor, J. D. Speer, J. D. Armstrong, A. M. Jenkinson, D. H. Hostetter, D. N. FREEMAN AND MUNRO TO RACE AGAIN TONIGHT

Postponed Contest at Colosseum Track to Be Run—New Records May Be Made.

Howard Freeman will give Floyd McFarland a hard chase for racing honors this season behind motor pace. Saturday night at the Colosseum track, Allegheny, Freeman lowered the five-mile record in the first heat of his 30-mile race with Benny Munro, the Memphis rider.

They were riding 10-mile heats, best two in three. In the first heat rain began to fall after the riders had covered seven miles, and the last three miles of the 10-mile heat were not so speedy as the first seven. For five miles Freeman went the distance in 7:11 2-5, a new world's record, the best previous record being 7:14, made at Vailsburg, N. J., last July by Benny Munro, who was competing Saturday night with Freeman.

Owing to the rain the contest was postponed until tonight, when Freeman and Munro will come together again for a decision. The record made by Freeman will stand, but the contest will be started afresh this evening, and the winner of two heats will draw down the large end of the purse.

Munro's pace was not up to the standard Saturday evening, but he will be in good shape tonight, having secured the pacing tandem and contract to Otto Maya. It isn't likely that the five-mile mark made Saturday will be eclipsed, but it is pretty certain that Freeman will lower the mark for 10 miles, if he succeeds in defeating Munro.

Three heats of the amateur events were run off Saturday evening, but they are not to count and all the races will be started over this evening. In addition there will be a 10-mile motor race.

HOMING PIGEON FLIES.

Birds Owned by Members of Local Clubs Make Good Records for Long Distances.

The Homestead district of the National Federation of A. H. P. E., held its fifth race of the old bird series, from Vandalia, Ill., their 500-mile station, Saturday. The birds were liberated at 5:40 a. m. with the weather fair and west wind.

Although cloudy and raining at home the owners of the following lofts were surprised with one day returns. The first report was J. M. Skiles of Pigeon hill, East End, with a red checkered hen, a daughter of the famous Red Boy, making an average speed of 1,281 yards per minute. The next loft to report was T. J. Sylvis of Wilkinsburg, with an average speed of 1,278 yards per minute. The third loft was R. V. Blankenbuehler of Elizabeth, Pa., with a speed of 1,224 yards per minute. The next race will be from the 600-mile station, June 21.

The Allegheny Homing club held its fourth old bird race of the season yesterday, from Dayton, O., distance 241 miles, air line. The birds were liberated at 6:20 a. m., weather clear. The first loft reporting was that of J. Anderson, with Columbus June, at 12:28, speed 1,171 yards per minute. Second, C. Merker, with Fansville, at 12:35, speed 1,165. Third, John Tait, with Pluto at 12:38, speed 1,162. Fourth, Joseph Cress with Lanky Bob, at 12:28, speed 1,158.29.

The following members also reported, H. Merker, R. Dunsseath, H. Reis, H. Slaneyg, J. Antic, W. Sharp, C. Glassbrunner and W. Barley and Faulkner. The next race will be held on Sunday from Greenfield, Ind., 329 miles, air line.

HENO MAY START THE FAVORITE

EASTERN COLT IS BEING BACKED HEAVILY FOR AMERICAN DERBY.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—There will be at least 15 starters in the American derby a week from next Saturday if the indications of the past week may be taken as a reliable guide. There are still about 25 in the list of 97 entries which cannot be absolutely thrown out. Of course, no such number will start, but many owners are waiting until they can size up the quality of the field before declaring their intentions.

It will take another week to bring the probable field down to normal size. Only two things have happened within a week to give any better idea of the number of horses that will start than was known a week ago. These are the definite announcement that Heno will be shipped to Chicago tomorrow and the intimation that Abe Frank will not go to the post. The presence of Heno was expected and the scratching of Abe Frank would be no surprise.

From the list of probable starters might be chosen a number of horses who could reasonably be labeled as positive starters, barring unexpected occurrences. Such a list would include Heno, Cruzados, McChesney, two from Green B. Morris' stable, Gweniver, one from the stable of Pat Dunne, The Giver, Lord Quex, Wyeth. This would give a field of nine on which to build the full derby field.

It is practically certain that the east will also furnish the favorite for the big derby, and also that Heno will be the horse than will be burdened with the prestige of first choice. Whether Heno can do what such horses as Jim Gaffney, Parader and others failed to do is a matter for time to settle. Heno has been heavily backed of late and the money has flowed in larger chunks than western owners are wont to place on their horses. It cost E. T. Wilson, Jr., $8,000 to send The Parader from New York last year, including what he lost on the race, and Mr. Mackay will certainly be out an even greater amount, as his speculations have evidently been somewhat larger.

Heno, at the present time, is the best 3-year-old in the east. If he did not occupy that position he would hardly be sent to the derby.

There is some doubt as to what George G. Bennett will do with Abe Frank. He says he has not decided. Trainer Henry McDaniel says he has reached the conclusion that Abe Frank has no business in a race with weight up at the derby distance. He believes Abe Frank has settled down to be a miler. This may make a difference as to the intention of Bennett. There are still a great many people who are afraid that Abe Frank can go farther and faster than he has yet shown.

Cruzados is gradually working up to the derby stage. He began with gallops when he reached Washington park and has taken so kindly to work that Trainer Spiers sent the colt over the mile and three-eighths route on Friday morning. The colt went the distance in 2:35, but had all he wanted before he was pulled up, and had to be ridden some before the end. The track at Washington park has been better than at any of the courses where races have been held, and as Cruzados has had the track all to himself the conditions have been favorable to his work. Trainer Spiers has consistently declined to give time on any of the colt's workouts, and the mile and three-eighths trial was caught by a spectator.

OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON PLAN OF CLEANSING

Director of Public Works Will Aid the Bureau of Health.

SMALLPOX VICTIM DIED

The Seventh One to Expire at Municipal Hospital—Charleroi Sends a Case Into the City—Penitentiary Preparing for an Epidemic.

Director of the Department of Public Works J. Guy McCandless and Superintendent A. J. Pitcairn of the bureau of health will have a conference this week with reference to keeping the small streets and alleys cleaned with the same regularity the larger thoroughfares are looked after. When seen last night Director McCandless said that he would be willing to detail a number of men under Superintendent Pitcairn if the latter would place them on his payroll. He said this would be entirely satisfactory to him and he believed more efficient results would be obtained in working the men under the direction of the health officers. In this way they could be detailed immediately to the affected streets and alleys when they were discovered by the inspectors.

Director McCandless acknowledged that some of the small streets and alleys have not been kept clean. He said, however, that this was because of the habits of the tenants along them. No sooner are the streets cleaned than the residents throw their refuse in the gutter and on the sidewalks. It is not long before there is an accumulation of filth which is supplemented by disease.

No Action Yet.

Superintendent Pitcairn when seen said that he would make every effort to have a number of men detailed under him to keep these small streets and alleys in order. Although a number of these filth-covered streets have been reported to Superintendent Pitcairn and Director McCandless there has yet been no active effort made to clean them. Both these officials have admitted they know the condition of some of the affected streets.

Another victim was added to the list of patients who have died in the Municipal hospital when John C. Dickson succumbed to smallpox Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock. Dickson was admitted to the hospital on June 1. He was taken from his home in Bertheud street, Thirteenth ward. On Thurs

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Summary for Last Week.

Local changes in quotations for grain amount to only a decline in the oats market. All week there has been a steady weakening in this line and prices have dropped twice, the total difference between figures ruling now, as compared with the first of the week, amounting to 2 cents for the lower grades, with top quality a fraction less. Hay is easy and shelled corn is none too strong, while ear corn has held firm. Millfeed is unchanged, but steady.

After an unusually uneventful week in grocery circles a couple of price changes came on Saturday. The long drawn out but expected decline in flour materialized, the top of the market for spring patent being now $4 19, as against $4 20 a week ago. A hard struggle was made to maintain quotations, in the face of a discouraging wheat market, but they had to go down. Sugar is firm, the further advance in coffee is easy, with local prices unchanged. Navy beans are about 5 cents lower. Canned goods and dried fruits are unchanged in price and condition.

The surprise at the close of the week was the strength developed in the potato market, old taking a sudden upturn, carrying new old in its wake. This sharp and unlooked for advance at the close of the season has tempted some speculators to attempt the cornering of the market, hence prices fluctuate. There are not many potatoes in the country, and a real corner would not be hard to manipulate, while there are some consumers who will not use new potatoes while they can buy old, thus keeping a constant demand. Native cabbages and onions jumped forward about 15 cents a bushel, after a week of very slow conditions. The suddenness of the action, of course, gave an impetus to new stock, which advanced about 10 cents a bushel.

Apples are slow, but limited stocks keep quotations steady.

Cabbage is higher than it was at the beginning of the week and shipments have commenced to arrive from Baltimore. New home beets are now in the market. Home-grown peas, strawberries and cherries are here in their appearance. Strawberries, it is said, are a small crop and the season will be short. Strawberries are much higher.

Spinach is higher than it was a week ago, as is asparagus, which also holds its own. The first watermelons of the season are offering at 50 to 60 cents each. Fresh tomatoes have been coming down in price all week and are now plentiful for present time. Huckleberries from North Carolina are irregular arrivals, while southern blackberries come in occasionally.

Butter has been very steady all week, although the close in New York showed some weakness. Cheese is in good demand, but lower, the natural decline of the season of plenty having come to pass during the week. Eggs were not quite so stiff on Friday and Saturday as earlier in the week, but nominal quotations are unchanged and some very fancy select eggs are even bringing better figures.

Poultry is not plentiful, but receipts have been slightly more liberal than they were a short time ago, and spring broilers are increasing in size, with quotations a little easier. The arrivals of chickens continue to increase this week over those with which we have been favored.

Advances occurred in hams, salt and smoked meats and breakfast bacon. Lard declined slightly.

NEW INVENTION TO DISPLACE ICE IN MANY CASES

Cooled Air Will Be Used for Refrigerating by Big Establishments.

FULL OF POSSIBILITIES

Two Companies Are Already Formed With $1,000,000 and $500,000 Capital—System Can Also Be Used to Keep Hotels and Houses Cool.

A. J. Duffy, the Pittsburgh engineer, announced yesterday that he has arranged all preliminaries for the organization in New York of a $1,000,000 company and in Boston for a $500,000 company to develop his system of ventilation and driving cold air so as to replace ice. He has just returned from an eastern trip, where these arrangements were made.

By this system the inventor states that the use of ice can be, in a large measure done away with. It will as yet affect only the larger consumers, such as hotels, cold storage houses and packing establishments, where an even temperature is necessary.

Although no plans have been considered yet for supplying small consumers, there is a great possibility in this for the future. The air, cooled to any desired temperature, can be circulated all through a big hotel, keeping the rooms cool and at the same time replacing ice for refrigerating purposes. The success of the invention will probably lead to its introduction into some of the more pretentious private dwellings, the initial cost of installation and running expenses putting it out of the reach of ordinary persons.

Tests Were Successful.

Mr. Duffy said yesterday at his home, No. 5 Childs street, East End, that his system had been installed at Boston in the building of the St. John Packing Company, along Clyde wharf, and has shown successful tests in refrigerating the stock of the company, chiefly fish, a difficult item to keep at proper temperature. The plant installed cost about $700 and supplies cold air for four warerooms.

With the success of this Mr. Duffy closed a deal with Arthur Teel, former president of the Boston and Maine Steamship Company, who undertakes to underwrite the organization of a company to issue stock in the sum of $500,000 and to be known as the Cold Air Ventilation Company, which will be chartered in Maine. This interest has arranged to install the system in Grigham's hotel in Boston.

In New York Mr. Duffy closed a deal with E. McLain of No. 1 Broadway to transfer the rights in the patents for certain territory to a corporation to be chartered in New Jersey and known as the New York Cold Air and Ventilation Company, with capital of $1,000,000. At Philadelphia a contract has been closed to install the system in the Hotel Columbia in Broad street.

To Be Installed Here.

In Pittsburgh Mr. Duffy has arranged to install his system in several hotels and is about to form another company to handle the business here.

The system starts with the installation of an air compressor in the basement. This, in crowding the air, heats it, but the air is reduced to a temperature of about 30 degrees in passing through a "jacket" packed in the secret chemicals, which, however, include none of the ammonia of the ordinary artificial ice plant.

Further on is another coil packed in these chemicals, reducing temperature to 35 degrees, and this air passes the ice box lined with pipes for refrigerating. The same air may be used as force in handling beer from a basement. In the rooms above the air emerges from fine perforations of pipes into any room and the inventor has an appliance which lends a grateful odor to the moving air.

Contracts have been closed for installing the first plant of this kind in the Pittsburgh district at the Montgomery hotel, Federal street and Montgomery avenue, Allegheny.

SQUIER'S METHODS AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Farming School Where, When the the Student Knows Things, He Goes and Does 'Em.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—The signing of contracts within a few days for the purchase of the School of Practical Agriculture of 415 acres of land near Poughkeepsie marks the beginning of a movement for the permanent establishment near New York of what the promoters call one of the most unique educational institutions in the country.

Less than two years ago a number of citizens, prominent in political and social life, met at the residences of Abram S. Hewitt and R. Fulton Cutting and formed themselves into an organization for establishing, experimentally, a school where the practice as well as the theory of farming could be taught. Prof. George T. Powell, a recognized authority on scientific agriculture, undertook the organization of the school, and a number of ladies and gentlemen agreed to finance the project. The original school establishment was at Briar Cliff manor, provided by the generosity of Mr. Law, which also furnished a building to accommodate 35 students and the necessary staff.

The success of the school was immediate and the originators then concluded to extend the facilities. In speaking of the school President Van Norden said today:

"We have demonstrated, I think, beyond a doubt, that there is need and opportunity for a practical farming school in this country on the plan carried out by our director, Mr. Powell. Our need now is money resources for the equipment of the new foundation of the school at Poughkeepsie."

CHILD LOST LIFE IN RESCUING PET

LITTLE MILDRED SMITH TRIED TO COAX DOG FROM UNDER CARS.

Train Suddenly Started and Wheels Cut Off Child's Arms in Sight of Her Aunt, Who Pulled Her Form Away from Track.

To save a pet dog from being killed by a train Mildred Della Smith, 3 years old, was fatally injured under its wheels yesterday morning at Brinton station and died at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the Mercy hospital. She attempted to go under a freight to rescue her pet and when under the cars the train moved and the wheels passed over her arms.

The little girl's step-father, Charles Cline, was attending a meeting and parade of his lodge, the Knights of Pythias, yesterday morning. He sent the little girl to her uncle's home. The child had been playing in the yard with a little dog. The dog ran across the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad and under a freight train, where he stopped.

She called to him to come back, but he did not, and the child started after him. A shifting crew was working on the train and she was attempting to coax her pet from under the wheels, when the train was started. None of the crew had seen her and she was crushed beneath the heavy car.

Just as the child started under the cars her aunt, Mrs. McMunn, saw her and realizing her danger called to her. The warning was too late, as the wheels passed over her in sight of Mrs. McMunn. The dog escaped.

The train moved slowly and Mrs. McMunn pulled the girl from under the moving train. The child did not cry. She looked at her aunt and said: "Get me a drink of water and rock me to sleep. My hands are bleeding." She was immediately removed to the Mercy hospital.

While passing along one of the downtown avenues in the parade her step-father learned of the accident. He broke from the ranks and hurried to the Mercy hospital just in time to see the little girl die. The family lived at Copeland station.

FEW OF THE FEATURES AT SUNDAY HEARINGS

Several Offenders Were Arraigned Whose Performances Were Somewhat Out of the Ordinary.

Among the 52 prisoners arraigned at the Central police station hearing yesterday morning was Carmine Maurian, an Italian, 45 years of age, who paid a fine of $20 and costs. He was arrested for threatening the family of a countryman living in Diamond street because the head of it would not consent to give Maurian his 13-year-old daughter to wed. John Crocin was fined $25 and costs for abusing his sister-in-law and kicking down the door of his wife's bedroom. James Johnston, who was caught in a boarding house where he did not belong, after midnight, was fined $10 and costs.

Frank Wyman, colored, was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate J. V. McMasters at No. 3 police station because on Saturday night, at the corner of Penn avenue and Twenty-ninth street, he threatened to cut an ice man. When searched he had a revolver and a knife on him. Vincent Vicklickski was fined $10 and costs for attempting to clean out a Polish boarding house in Mulberry alley.

At the hearing at No. 7 police station Levy Perry of No. 179 South Seventeenth street was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail on a disorderly conduct charge. He requested Magistrate David J. McGarey to make it 30 days to the workhouse instead, as he preferred the workhouse to the jail. The magistrate granted the request. Thomas Powell and his wife, Mary Ann, were sent to jail for 10 days. They live in South Third street and had a drinking bout Saturday night. William Patronski, a Pole, living in the Twenty-seventh ward, paid a fine of $10 and costs. He had worked at Jones & Laughlins' and thought he had two days' pay coming to him and demanded it. Officer William Keitle put him outside the yard, but he armed himself with a piece of brick and attacked the officer.

Rose Krakoski, a 16-year-old girl of No. 5 Loling street, was sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd for incorrigibility by Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen of Allegheny.

ZION CHURCH PAYS ITS RED ROSE RENTAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LANCASTER, PA., June 8.—The annual feast of roses was celebrated at Manheim today, when the Zion Evangelical Lutheran congregation of that place paid to the heirs of Baron Henry Stiegel their yearly rental—one red rose. A crowd of nearly 10,000 people poured into the little town to witness the quaint and beautiful ceremony. The church was wholly inadequate to hold the throng.

Baron Stiegel was an eccentric German nobleman, who founded the town of Manheim about 1758. There he built the first glass factory in America and in that vicinity operated one of the first iron furnaces in the country. In 1770 he deeded to the Zion Lutheran congregation ground for their church, stipulating that they should in return pay to him or his heirs forever in the month of June of each year one red rose. In 1773 and 1774 this unique rental was demanded and paid to the baron. Then the custom was abandoned and seems to have been forgotten until 1892, when it was revived. Since the latter year it had been celebrated annually.

Upon the conclusion of the services a line was formed and thousands, including those who had been unable to get in before, marched through the church, many of them carrying roses which were cast upon the altar.

Women's Undermuslins.

This second week of the June White Sale will have as features many new styles that were not ready when the sale began last Tuesday—therefore selection is more advantageous.

Variety is ample for every line has been reinforced—all the regular tables and the special tables filled to overflowing.

It is well understood by women who know this store that these recurring sales of muslin underwear are not comparable with any like sales now being conducted. Our lowest priced garments are no more like others' evenly priced garments than cambric is like crash.

The word skimp is unknown in this department. All the materials are of best texture—we look to that before the garments are made up.
